Episcopal Churchmen Meet

CONVOCAION OPENED BY BISHOP OF DIOCESE

Progress and Problems of Organization Discussed At Gathering

The large number of churchmen in attendance at the semi-annual convocation of the Los Angeles diocese of the Episcopal church, opening this morning at St. Mark's on South Louise and East Harvard streets, was commended by Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, bishop of the diocese, who presided, in a cordial address of greeting and welcome.

The address followed Holy Communion at 10 o'clock, with Bishop Johnson as celebrant, and the reading by Rev. Philip K. Kemp of minutes of the last semi-annual convocation, held at St. Mark's, Pasadena, November 7, 1923, wherein it was recalled that securing of adequate church sites is one of the major problems of the church in this diocese.

Here From Japan
Rector Charles P. Diems of San Francisco then introduced Rev. Robert W. Andrews, rector of St. Thomas' Episcopal church at Tokio, Japan, who began his address with the awe-inspiring words, "All has gone save faith in God," stating that 500,000 people died in Tokyo alone, in the recent great earthquake.

Rector Andrews then traced the effects of Christianity in Japan along industrial, educational and social lines, since Admiral Perry carried the Stars and Stripes there in 1853, opening the country to civilization and Christianity. Working conditions were better now, he said, the effect of the word of Jesus Christ had been felt on every person under 25 years of age, and moral conditions in general were better now.

Prayers for Aid
Rector Diems followed with a powerful plea for aid in the national movement to refinance the completely devastated missionary plant in Tokio, which has practically been rebuilt from the ground. There were a number of reasons why this should be done, he said, among them the great need, America's duty, the church's duty and the need for offsetting the anti-Japanese feeling as interpreted by the exclusion act being named.

Rev. Vernon D. Ruggles, chaplain of the Los Angeles County Mission society, declared: "It is not enough to be Christians—we must MAKE Christians." The Christ spirit of "Go ye also" was stressed, the speaker regretting that there is too much machinery in the modern church and too many knockers. "Behold, I stand at the gate and knock" has come to take on a new and depressing meaning, he said, concluding his remarks with a vivid picture of a typical day's routine of the Mission society.

Forward Movement
Rev. Byron Holly, rector of St. Jude's Episcopal church, Burbank, the last morning speaker, outlined an ambitious forward

Patriotic Organizations Plan For Memorial Day

All patriotic organizations in the city are planning to participate in the observance of Memorial Day, Friday, May 30, according to E. E. McWain, secretary of the general committee.

The Burbank post of the American Legion will participate in the exercises to be held at Grand View cemetery in the morning, and a delegation from Glendale Post will be in attendance.

The main Glendale services will be held in the afternoon at Forest Lawn, following a parade that will start at 2

Billy Sunday Is Confident He Will Regain His Health

CHICAGO, May 14.—"The Lord and I have been partners for thirty-six years. He has never forsaken me. He won't now. I'll make the grade all right."

So declared the Rev. William A. (Billy) Sunday, famous evangelist, today, as he arrived from Memphis, Tenn., en route to Rochester, Minn., where he will enter the Mayo clinic to be treated for a kidney affection.

"I've driven the old machine too hard, and it has to be tightened up," he added.

PLAN PARADE FOR YOUTH OF CITY

Twenty-five Hundred Boys To March In Mammoth Rotary Pageant

It is planned by the boys' work committee of the Glendale Rotary club to have fully 2500 boys of the city march in the mammoth parade scheduled for 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, May 16, states Arthur H. Dibern, chairman of the committee.

Prizes for the various divisions have been selected and are now on display at the hardware store of Cornwell & Kelly, 107 North Brand boulevard.

Will Name Winners
Richardson D. White, chairman of the parade committee, states that the winners will be announced at the baseball game being arranged for Saturday afternoon, May 17, at the Glendale baseball park, between the White Sox and a team to be selected by

ROTARY RALLIES FOR WORLD MEET

Open Conference In England With Delegates From All Over Globe

TORQUAY, England, May 14.—Two thousand delegates from all parts of the world are attending the International Rotary conference which opened here today.

Guy Gundaker of Philadelphia, president of the International Rotary clubs, made the opening address outlining proposals for an international code of standards for all crafts and professions.

"It is the purpose of the Rotary clubs to foster understanding, peace and good will, and to strive for world fellowship and for business and industrial unity," said Gundaker.

ROAD CLEAR TO FRENCH PROGRESS

Defeat of Poincare to Pave Pathway to Economic Progress, Belief

By DAVID LAWRENCE
By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1924.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—For more than a year Washington has waited patiently for just what has happened in France in the last few days—a change from the uncompromising Nationalism of Raymond Poincare to the flexibility of a new administration unembarrassed by the commitments of its predecessors.

The evacuation of the Ruhr, long advocated by the United States government and now the big stumbling block to the effective operation of the Dawes-Young reparations settlement, may be agreed to by the new administration in France as a means of getting funds immediately. The radicals came into power in the French elections on promises to obtain the money needed to reconstruct the remainder of the devastated regions. An international loan, together with the application of the Dawes-Young plan, would give France a new financial start, not only raising the value of the franc but reducing the necessity of further borrowings inside the country and increases in the internal debt.

Defeat Inevitable
It was inevitable a year ago that the Poincare administration would be wrecked on financial issues unless compromises were made. The gradual drop in the franc helped materially to soften the Poincare attitude but the rise of a labor ministry in Great Britain, together with the insistence of all the allied experts that the Ruhr should be evacuated to make Germany a single economic

POINCARE PLANS TO LEAVE ARENA

Deposed Premier to Abandon Political Career for Long Rest Period

PARIS, May 14.—Premier Raymond Poincare, who will resign from his cabinet the first of June, plans to withdraw from active politics and take a long rest, the Matin stated today.

Poincare's friends said his health has suffered from the strain of office during the past three years.

The retiring premier may ask the senate for leave of absence to avoid participation in senate debates.

Await New Cabinet
In the interim until June 1 the Poincare cabinet will make no important decisions. The question of future policy will be left to the new government.

Opinion grows stronger that the radical socialists will come into power when the present cabinet quits. Edouard Herriot continues the leading candidate for the premiership.

ACCUSES MILLIONAIRE

LONDON, May 14.—Courts today granted a divorce to Frederick Whitehead from his wife, Sybil Whitehead. The plaintiff named Sir John Drughorn, millionaire ship owner and director of the Anglo-Brazilian line.

POPE REPORTED ILL

LONDON, May 14.—Pope Pius XI is suffering from uric acidemia and all his audiences have been suspended, the tribunal at Rome announced today, according to a Central News despatch received here this afternoon.

Joint Gatherings Of School Boards Will Take Place

Members of the Glendale Union High school board of trustees and members of the Glendale city board of education, in separate sessions last night, decided to inaugurate the policy of holding joint meetings from time to time. It is stated that it is the desire to discuss school problems in a general way and also establish the fullest co-operation between the two education boards. The first joint meeting will be held Thursday night, May 22.

HIGH SCHOOL TO RETAIN TEACHERS

Practically No Changes On Staff; No Outside Pupils to Enter

Practically the entire Glendale Union High school teaching staff of 100 was retained last night for another year, by vote of the high school Board of Trustees, at their regular monthly meeting held at the Harvard High school, President Albert D. Pearce in the chair.

Those not retained were four teachers who had accepted positions elsewhere. To fill these forthcoming vacancies, Miss Genevieve and Josephine Franklin were appointed to the girls' physical education department, and Miss Frances Mains, Miss Mary Jane Collins and Miss Louise Olin were added to the English department, announces George U. Moyses, principal.

A bid for approximately 225 diplomas for this year's graduating class was accepted from the

POTOMAC FLOODS TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Inundation at Capital Worst In Thirty-five Years; Homes Swept Away

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Nearly four feet above flood stage and still rising, the Potomac today continued to take a heavy toll of damage as it swept its angry course through nearby Virginia.

It is the worst flood Washington and its environs have suffered in 35 years.

Fifteen cottages and houses above Georgetown, a suburb, were swept away early today when the Chesapeake and Ohio canal broke through its banks.

Four lives have been claimed by the waters. Principal damage in the capital section has been property loss. Observers believed the crest would be reached this afternoon.

Committee Holds Wheeler Fit To Remain In Senate

WASHINGTON, May 14.—By a vote of four to one, the Senate committee which investigated the indictment of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, absolved the senator of the charges made against him and ruled that he was fit to remain a member of the Senate.

The report clearing Wheeler was brought in by Senator William E. Borah, Republican of Idaho, the committee chairman.

The members who voted for it were Senators McNary, Republican of Oregon; Swanson, Democrat of Virginia; Cawley, Democrat of Arkansas, and Borah.

CITY BOARD NAMES NEW PRESIDENT

Mrs. A. A. Barton President And Harry W. Chase Chosen Secretary

Mrs. A. A. Barton, 318 East Mountain street, was elected president of the Glendale city Board of Education for the coming school year at a regular meeting of the board held last night. Harry W. Chase was chosen as secretary.

By unanimous vote the board decided to inaugurate a new policy of joint meetings with the high school Board of Trustees. The first of these will be held Thursday night, May 22, at the Harvard street high school. There is nothing of special importance to come before the boards, but school problems will be discussed in a general way so that a better mutual understanding and more active co-operation will result.

Chosen Principal
James F. McMaster was appointed principal of the Central avenue school, succeeding Miss Annie McIntyre, who was raised to the office of assistant superintendent at the last meeting. He was an instructor at the Glendale avenue school where he had charge of history and instruction.

The teachers' committee reported that three resignations from the faculty had been accepted. They were E. E. Wilbrandt, superintendent of physical education; Miss Mabel Ahl and Miss Dorothy Sherman. The board appointed H. Edward Bremer to take Mr. Wilbrandt's place. Miss Florence Ethel Campbell was named as assistant supervisor of the home economics department.

Special Meeting
The board will hold a special meeting next Tuesday night when the teaching staff for the next

LABORITES HOPE TO PASS BUDGET

Victory on McKenna Duties Gives All Government Leaders Hope

LONDON, May 14.—Having won a victory upon the McKenna duties in the House of Commons last night, Premier Macdonald's labor government was practically certain today of carrying through the new budget. The government's majority was 65.

The fight against the government's policy of lifting duties upon automobiles, clocks, musical instruments and other articles was led by former Premier Baldwin, a Tory, who declared that American manufacturers would dump goods into England.

Officials are hopeful that the new French government will be ready to execute the Dawes' reparations plan but it is admitted that some fears are felt that the socialist victory in the French election may encourage Germany to demand concessions which may upset present arrangements.

IDAHO LIFTS BAN

BOISE, Idaho, May 14.—Effective June 1, Idaho will admit California citrus fruits when properly packed and fumigated.

Where Did You Get It?

This is a picture of a hat—a straw hat. Incidentally, there is a man under the hat. How did he get that way? That's easy. The hard question is: WHERE did he get that hat? Yesterday was the opening of straw hat day in Glendale. Got your lid yet?

The fatal thirteenth was yesterday. Meaning that May 13 saw the opening of straw hat day, when mere man was supposed to ditch the felt and don the straw.

Most of the males in Glendale did that very thing; the others will follow suit—Old Sol, which is our name for the sun, will make 'em.

This is the way that new pate parasol felt the first day. Actually it was only a 6% but it felt like an inverted aquarium. The handsome young man in the picture is wearing a 3 3/4. It would have fitted Samson fine, after Deillah got him to visit the barber.

Who Is The Man?
Now then, the burning question is, who's the man under the big hat? Councilman S. S. Gilhuly, of course, said Mayor Spencer Robinson. But Mr. Gilhuly says it looks more like the next president of the United States.

Anyway, the man in the picture didn't buy the hat from Ira B. Carlock, haberdasher, 135 1/2 South Brand boulevard, because Mr. Carlock says the largest hat he ever sold a customer was an 8, which would fit right down to the shoulders of the average man. One thing is certain, it is just as far from brim to brim as it is to the nearest hatter. The wise pedestrian travels around under a straw canopy when Old Sol opens the season on sun-strokes and starts getting a rise out of Mercury.

Island Bank Sues to Recover Heavy Loans

MANILA, May 14.—Additional suits were filed today by the Philippine National bank in its attempt to fix responsibility for and recover huge sums alleged to have been illegally loaned. The suits filed today are directed against Senator Ramon Fernandez, former Senator Vincente Singzon, Vincente Madrigal, millionaire coal merchant and ship owner; Fred Berry, former secretary to Governor Harrison; J. Elmer Delaney, former vice-president of the bank, and Archibald Harrison.

Probe Poison Theory In Death of Clubman

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—An analysis of the contents of the stomach of Charles William Case Deering, wealthy clubman and son of the former head of the Deering Harvester company, was being made today on orders of Coroner T. B. W. Leland, on the theory that Deering's death may have been due to an overdose of veronal instead of from injuries sustained in an aviation accident. The coroner's inquest revealed that three empty bottles which had contained a veronal solution were found beside the body.

French World Flyer Reaches Indo-China

LONDON, May 14.—Lieutenant Pelletier D'Oisy, French long distance flyer, has arrived at Hanoi, after a seven and one-half-hour non-stop flight from Saigon, said a dispatch from Hanoi today. Hanoi is the capital of Tong King, in French Indo China.

BACK TRACK ACTION BY CONGRESS IS URGED

President Summons Leaders Of Political Parties For Conference

WASHINGTON, May 14.—A final eleventh hour attempt to compel Congress to back track on its action in setting Japanese exclusion for July 1, next, was made today by President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes.

The president summoned to the White House Representative Longworth, the Republican leader; Representative Garrett, the Democratic leader; Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas; Representative Snell, Republican, New York, chairman of the rules committee, and Chairman Albert Johnson of the house immigration committee, for a general conference with Secretary Hughes and himself, at which the international gravity of the pending exclusion clause was fully gone into by Hughes.

New Proposal
It was reported that the president and Secretary Hughes had submitted a new proposal to the House leaders by which the sting could be taken out of the exclusion legislation so far as Japan is concerned, but this could not be confirmed from any of the conferees when the meeting broke up after an hour's session.

None of them would discuss it, and Coolidge and Hughes were similarly silent.

Representative Longworth said "the general executive situation" had been gone over with a view to adjournment June 7, but he was uncommunicative concerning the immigration situation.

Strong Sentiment
It is considered extremely doubtful if any plan could be hit upon by administration leaders that would cause the House to retract the action it has twice taken on the exclusion question. The second time the House acted, it directly turned down an amendment to the bill that was written by the president himself. Sentiment in the Senate is similarly strong for exclusion on July 1.

A sensational report was current this afternoon that President Coolidge planned to deliver a special message to Congress in person asking that the exclusion provision be amended so as not to offend Japan.

This could not be confirmed from any of those attending the White House conference, however.

LATEST NEWS

SENATOR UNDERWOOD'S NAME WITHDRAWN
LEXINGTON, Ky., May 14.—The withdrawal of the name of Senator Oscar Underwood as a candidate for the presidential nomination in the Democratic state convention here this afternoon, averted a spirited contest on the floor of the convention. The entire vote of the Kentucky delegation will be instructed for William Gibbs McAdoo, according to present indications.

HOLLOCHER SWATS OUT HOME RUN
CHICAGO, May 14.—Shortstop Charley Hollocher celebrated his return to the Cubs' lineup today after a long holdout by getting a home run off McQuillan of the Giants, in his first appearance at bat in almost a year. The ball went down the right field line for what ordinarily would be a single, but in rebounding from the screen in front of the bleachers trickled through a hole in the fence and Hollocher went around the bases.

COOLIDGE MAY APPEAR BEFORE CONGRESS
WASHINGTON, May 14.—President Coolidge plans to go before Congress in person to deliver his message vetoing the soldiers' bonus bill, according to reports current at the capitol this afternoon. The president has until midnight Friday night to act on the bill. It was said at the White House that the president's plans were not definite.

Sanitarium Cancels Formal Opening Plan

The plans that had been tentatively adopted to hold the formal opening of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on Sunday, May 18, have been cancelled by C. E. Kimlin, the manager, who fears the presence of crowds of thousands of visitors might have the effect of exciting the many patients who are now undergoing treatment at the institution.

Mr. Kimlin declares that visitors are always welcome at the Sanitarium, and the fact that many guests take advantage of the opportunity to inspect the plant and to partake of the hospitality of the management of the institution proves the interest that is felt in its work of healing.

Fire Protection and Hazards to Be Told

Jay W. Stevens, who lectures on fire protection and fire prevention at the Harvard street high school auditorium tomorrow night, will deal with local conditions, particularly the disastrous brush fire which swept the San Rafael hills last fall.

A practical demonstration of fire hazards will be given by Assistant Chief Rhodes of Los Angeles.

Birthday Surprise
Mrs. Charles A. Rudel of 315 Vine street was tendered a pleasant surprise Tuesday by a number of intimate friends as a celebration of her birthday anniversary.

She arrived at home at luncheon hour to find that the party had taken possession of the rooms and a delicious course luncheon was ready to serve, with a beautiful birthday cake and home-made ice cream as the dessert course.

Mrs. Rudel was presented with a handsome set of silver teaspoons, and also made high score at the games of five hundred, a diversion of the afternoon. She was awarded the prize, a large jar of home-made jam. The consolation went to Mrs. J. Chaplin.

Mrs. John Houle and mother, Mrs. Martha Gibson, were hostesses for the affair, assisted by Miss Delma Houle.

Those present were Mesdames Dena Herman, Carrie Schmidt, H. M. Doll, Catherine Huesman, Fred Huesman, A. J. Chappius, J. Strong, Jack Lundregan, Frank Hester, John Houle, Martha Gibson, Miss Delma Houle, Helen Houle and the honoree, Mrs. Rudel.

One of the loveliest gifts received by Mrs. Rudel was an embroidered pillow, made by Helen Houle.

Auxiliary Tea
The musical tea given Monday afternoon in the Congregational church parlors by the members of the American Legion Auxiliary, with the War Mothers as special guests, proved a most enjoyable and successful affair.

The parlors of the church were decorated with a profusion of spring flowers and many American flags.

Mrs. E. W. Gilleland, president of the American Legion Auxiliary gave the address of welcome and Mrs. E. W. W. Howard read the "Mother's Day" bill which was adopted in 1914, making the second Sunday in May "Mothers' Day."

Other numbers on the program included readings by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery; piano solos by Mrs. C. E. Nagel; pianologues by Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy.

The rest of the afternoon was devoted to an informal social time, when refreshments were served.

Plan For Picnic
Mrs. Josephine Woolsey of 342 West Maple avenue was hostess last night to the members of the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club, whom she entertained with a dinner and informal social affair.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock followed by a short business session with the president, Dr. Jessie A. Russell presiding. At this time several matters of importance to club members only were discussed and plans made for a picnic to be given in the very near future.

The rest of the evening was devoted to an enjoyable social time.

Club Card Party
Tuesday afternoon club women of the Home Economics department are to be hostesses tomorrow afternoon at another bridge and five hundred party. All club members are invited to attend and bring guests.

These card parties have proven so popular with the club women and friends that they are to be continued through the summer on the first and third Thursday afternoons of each month.

Tomorrow Mesdames Murphy and E. S. Dodds will be hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Allan Fairchild, curator of the department.

Visits Monterey
Miss Faith Carolyn Johnson of Wing street left yesterday morning for Monterey where she will visit the family of Myron Oliver, the well-known painter and art connoisseur. Mrs. Oliver is a lifelong chum of Miss Johnson.

Before Miss Johnson's departure she was the honoree at several farewell events, one of the most enjoyable being the dinner and Mah Jongg party given Saturday night by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clark C. Johnson of North Jackson street.

Announcement
Cards have been received, announcing the marriage of Miss Janet White and Harry John Schroeder, the ceremony having taken place May 8, in Denver. Mrs. Schroeder is a sister of Mrs. H. J. Olmsted of 364 West California avenue and made many friends here during a visit several months ago. The young couple are spending their honeymoon in Colorado Springs and will make their home in Denver.

Hold Food Sale
A cooked food sale will be held all day Thursday at the Gateway Market, at South Brand boulevard and San Fernando road, for the benefit of the Cerritos Avenue P. T. A. Mrs. Osborne Garber is chairman of the committee in charge.

P. E. O. Meeting
The regular meeting of Chapter C. J. P. E. O. will be held Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. B. Moule, 207 North Kenwood street. Miss Clara Cox is to be assisting hostess. The meeting will open at 1 o'clock.

Meeting Tonight
Miss Sarah Allen will entertain the members of the S. K. K. club at her home tonight, 352 West Lomita avenue. This will be the regular weekly meeting. The evening's diversion will be bridge.

SPECIAL EVENTS FOR MISSIONARY WEEK AT CHURCH

Cristabel Pankhurst Will Speak Tonight; Pageant
On Friday Night

Activities of "Missionary Week" at the Glendale Presbyterian church at South Louise and East Harvard streets are proving most worthwhile for Glendale church people and friends.

Last night was specially for Christian Endeavors, and Miss G. A. Staley of Lolodorf, West Africa, was the speaker. Her subject was "The Native Workers Themselves in Action." She told many of her experiences among the Africans, and her talk proved most instructive.

Noted Speaker Tonight
Everett Anderson led the singing, with Mrs. Anderson at the piano. The feature of the musical part of the service was a duet by Mr. Anderson and H. B. White.

All of Glendale is interested in the service tonight, when Cristabel Pankhurst, former leader of the suffragette movement in England, will speak on "The Lord's Return." Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the church, will preside.

Miss Pankhurst is now devoting all her time to religious teachings and wherever she has spoken crowds have been turned away.

In addition to her religious work, she possesses bachelor of law degree and is a member of the bar in England.

"Men's Night" will be observed Thursday night. Dr. W. C. Allison, formerly of Guatemala, now Spanish instructor at Occidental college, Eagle Rock, will be the speaker.

The missionary pageant, "Uplifting Hands," is to be presented Friday night, under the direction of Mrs. Miller. Various countries will be represented in the costumes worn. The grand finale will be a choral number by the Lydia class.

HARRY JAMES ON POMONA PROGRAM

Monologue Artist Makes Big Hit With Students In Talk on Records

Pomona college students and residents of Claremont and neighboring communities were entertained at the college last night by Harry James, monologist, who appeared as a representative of the Brunswick Phonograph company.

It was the regular weekly motion picture program at the college, and Mr. James opened the program with a thirty-minute talk on the making of records. He also gave several of his clever original monologues.

So pleased were his 600 hearers that he was asked to return to the college tonight to repeat the program.

Thursday Mr. James will spend Long Beach radio.

Mother Honoree

Mrs. Carrie Farrell of 435 West Patterson avenue was the honoree last night at a dinner party given by her daughter, Miss Kathryn Farrell, and Miss Hazel Flynn in the celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Arrangements of sweetpeas and marigolds were used in carrying out a gold and white color scheme.

After dinner an informal social evening was enjoyed. There were eight guests present including friends from Glendale and Los Angeles.

RESIDENCE OPEN FOR INSPECTION BY GLENDALEANS

Public Invited to View New Home of W. L. Clark on Saturday, Sunday

The beautiful buff-colored stucco, Spanish type six-room residence built by D. C. Kramer of 1013 South Brand boulevard, for W. L. Clark at 565 Wing street, will be open for public inspection Saturday and Sunday, May 17 and 18. It occupies a lot 50 x 150 feet and was erected at a cost of approximately $10,000, Mr. Kramer states.

Floors throughout are of 13/16 inch quartered oak, with the exception of the bathroom, where the floor and walls are of "Plastone." A special feature is a three-burner heater, which occupies a one-half basement. This heater is subject to delicate regulation and is one of the most advanced types on the market, according to Mr. Kramer.

Rooms are combined. The living-room and dining-room are combined, with a ten foot arch between. The breakfast-room is large and has a blue and pink color ceiling. The Southern gum art work in this house has been pronounced by Hollywood contractors to be the finest they have ever seen, Mr. Kramer states. The two bedrooms and den with a swinging bed offer unusually large sleeping accommodations, while there is in addition a screen porch as big as a room. The kitchen is very modern and conveniently arranged, with many built-in features. Every window in the house is copper screened.

The double garage, 20 by 22 feet, affords ample room for two cars and has a novel arrangement, the doors rolling around the sides, permitting the entire front to be unobstructed.

Invites Inspection. Mr. Kramer is proud of this house and invites all who are interested to come out Saturday or Sunday and inspect it in detail, noting its many compact, modern features, which according to the builder give in a six-room structure all the roominess of a much larger place.

"Nothing has been spared to make this new home of W. L. Clark ideal in every respect," says Mr. Kramer. "People from Hollywood and other places are beginning to realize that there are Glendale contractors who can put up houses just as strong, beautiful and enduring as can be built by any contractors in Southern California."

Czar's Cutlery Used In Dingy Restaurant

LONDON, May 14.—Cutlery that once graced the tables of the Czars of Russia is now in use in a dingy restaurant in Islington, one of the semi-slum boroughs of this city.

There are six hundred knives, each bearing the royal arms of Russia engraved upon the blade. When they came into the possession of the present owner they all had handles of solid gold, but those used in the restaurants had been handled, "for obvious reasons," according to the proprietor.

CONSCRIPTION OF WEALTH FAVORED

Christian Science Monitor Takes Vote on Plan for Amendment

Wealth as well as man power would be conscripted in the event of another war if the plan conceived by the Christian Science Monitor were adopted. It was announced today from headquarters of the Monitor committee of the Glendale Christian Science church.

The May 8 issue of the Monitor contains three ballots on the peace plan, which is proposed by the denomination as an amendment to the constitution. The paper desires a vote, either of approval or disapproval, and the local Monitor committee is co-operating to obtain such a vote in Glendale.

Human life has been held cheap and private property has been held sacred too long in time of war, the Monitor believes, and feels that laws making war profits impossible would go a long way toward ending war.

COOLIDGE CLUBS WILL CELEBRATE

Victory Dinner Planned for Convention Delegates Saturday, May 17

A "Victory Dinner" is to be held Saturday night, May 17, at 6:30 o'clock at the City club in the Chapman building, Eighth and Broadway, Los Angeles, by the league of Coolidge Republic clubs of California as a rally for all loyal republicans.

Honored guests will be the delegates elected on May 6 to the national convention June 10 in Cleveland; Marshall Hale, Mark Regua, Percy V. Long of San Francisco; Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach; and Ralph Arnold of Los Angeles. The four men named were appointed by the president as the national committee in charge of the campaign in California.

In view of the limited capacity of the club dining room it is suggested that reservations should be made at once by calling Ida R. Koverman, executive secretary at Faber 1920.

NO ACTORS' STRIKE

NEW YORK, May 14.—The Rialto was jubilant today because there will be no actors' strike, due to the ratification by the Actors' Equity association of the contract drawn by its officers and the newly formed Managers' Protective association. The outstanding clause of the new contract provides that after June 1, 80 per cent of all casts shall be equity members. The pact is to remain in force for ten years.

Fifth Successful Season Will Be Brought to an End Thursday Night; Splendid Repertoire and Social Session

Predictions are made that the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse will be filled to capacity tomorrow night for the concert given by the Madrigal club in closing its fifth season.

Mrs. Charles A. Parker, director, and the active members, have a splendid repertoire for presentation and the program as announced last Saturday in The Glendale Evening News, promises to be of real artistic worth.

Assisting the club will be John Smallman, well known singer and director of Los Angeles, who has made many friends in Glendale in his direction of the oratorio department of the Glendale Music club. Mr. Smallman will present a group of songs.

There will also be solo and ensemble numbers by the club. Following the concert a reception is to be held in the palm room for active and associate members and guests. Invitations have been sent to men and women of prominence in musical affairs of the southland.

Active members of the club are Mesdames J. Ray Bentley, H. L. Bullinger, A. R. Chappell, C. C. Coghlin, B. L. Cline, John W. Cotton, C. Creesy, A. M. Draper, Carrie Frahm, E. Hensel, H. V. The forty-fourth annual convention of Rebekah Assembly I. O. O. F. of California, which is in session in Pasadena at the Christian church was well attended and included a large delegation from the local lodges.

On Tuesday the annual opening address was given by the president, Abbie C. Byrn, who presided over all sessions yesterday. At this time the assembly degree was conferred on 750 delegates and visitors.

The Pasadena Chamber of Commerce has extended a hearty welcome to all the delegates and visitors attending the convention. They presented a huge basket of lovely flowers to the presiding officer as an expression of their good wishes.

BRADSHAW CHOICE OF STUDENT BODY

Popular Oxy Man Is Elected Head of Association; Secret Balloting

Returns of the student body election at Occidental College are complete and the officers of the student organization for the coming year 1924-25 have been chosen by secret ballot, this being the first year such a system has been tried at Oxy. Frank Bradshaw, prominent member of the class of '25, was elected president of the Associated Students of Occidental College, defeating both his opponents, Lawrence Johnson and Maynard Munger, by an overwhelming vote.

Frank Bradshaw is a student with a remarkable personality and he is well liked by the entire population of the college. When a freshman, he was oratorical representative and captain of the frosh track team. In his sophomore year he was president of his class, and oratorical representative. This year Bradshaw has handled the editorship of the La Encina, Occidental's year book. He was a member of the conference championship track team, being the star high jumper for the Tigers. He belongs to Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating fraternity.

Miss Ella Anderson was unanimously elected vice-president of the student body. Alice Gates of Pasadena was elected secretary for next year and Robert Stevenson as oratorical representative. Clarence Ebers will be the athletic representative for the organization. The officers of editor-in-chief of the Occidental and cheer leader required a second vote.

FIFTEEN TRAINS ARE NEEDED FOR TOURIST THROUGH

Glendaleans Book Passages Eastward as Summer Rates Take Effect

Among the thousands leaving over the Santa Fe for eastern points on Thursday, May 22, when the summer round-trip rates go into effect, are over 200 Glendaleans, according to J. M. Powers, manager of the local office at 119 East Broadway.

The California Limited will operate eight sections on that day, Mr. Powers states, the largest number on record for any regular train. The Navajo will operate three sections, the Missionary two sections and one section each of trains No. 8 and No. 10—fifteen train-loads of Southern Californians, in all, who will journey east on the opening day of the excursion rates.

Heavy Equipment. The equipment of these extra Santa Fe sections has been worked out by W. J. Black of Chicago, passenger traffic manager, in conjunction with James B. Duffy of Los Angeles, general passenger agent, states Mr. Powers, adding that on the second day of the excursion rates, May 23, the California Limited will be run in four sections and on May 24 in three sections, while other crack trains of the line will carry heavier equipment on those days.

While this great exodus east is at hand, another is about to start, with the west its objective, for on May 15 the tourist rates go into effect from the eastern terminals of the various transcontinental lines.

"These excursions are worth millions of dollars to Southern California," says Mr. Powers. "The westerners who go east to visit do much to disburse the public mind there of any serious condition here, as regards the livestock epidemic, while the easterners who go west to look over our country in many instances remain."

Pricedless Boost. "Publicity such as Southern California gets, both going and coming, by reason of these excursions, is something money couldn't buy. It is wonderful for

Daily Greeting To News Readers

Suffering becomes beautiful when anyone bears great calamities with cheerfulness, not through insensibility, but through greatness of mind.
—Aristotle.

THE POWER OF THOUGHT

It is strange that thoughts, those unseen and intangible workings of the human mind, should be fraught with so much power, not alone in what our thoughts impel us to do, but in themselves.

It is interesting, if not alarming, to consider that all the people thinking the same thing at the same time can bring about any result or condition. For instance, they can think prosperity or the reverse.

An old lady of our acquaintance always had a storm coming. If the day were fair and you remarked about it to her she would say, "Yes, but this is a weather breeder." There are always calamity howlers. In the time of prosperity they draw long faces and say, "This can't last."

Those who said there must be a slowing up in the way real estate values have been increasing in Glendale and near-by cities, have been right. The most optimistic business men looked for it as a normal working out of conditions. There is no cause for alarm, however. If things slow up beyond what is normal the people themselves will be to blame, it will be because they have willed it so.

All of the people thinking prosperity can make prosperity and the reverse is true. If we all believe that prosperity is going to continue we will all go on with "business as usual." If we believe that there is going to be a slowing up we are the first to slow up and make conditions what we expect them to be.

There is no basic reason for hard times in Southern California now and we will not have hard times unless the people themselves will it. Why not organize a prosperity club, pledging the members to think prosperity.

CALIFORNIA NOW AN EMPIRE

California's population today stands virtually at the 4,000,000 mark, according to L. E. Ross, chief of the bureau of vital statistics, State Board of Health. His actual estimate, based on unflinching facts of average, is 3,916,239, an increase of 3.6 per cent in the past twelve months.

Gather together 4,000,000 people and you have an empire. Several nations that have altered the face of the world had no greater population. It is doubtful if either Greece or Rome had over 4,000,000 freemen, at the height of their glory. King Solomon did not have that many subjects. The population of the American colonies in 1776 was scarcely 3,000,000.

A population of 4,000,000 within this state is significant, particularly in view of the fact it was one of the last states to be settled. California, in territorial area, natural resources and variety of climate, as well as in population, is an empire on which the world has focused a gaze of intense admiration mingled with longing. The destiny of California is something to make the blood tingle. With 4,000,000 population in 1924, what will it be in 1950?

California is destined to be the greatest state in the union, just as Los Angeles is destined to be the greatest metropolis in America. The trend of modern civilization is west—but the Pacific is the final barrier. Between the east boundaries of California and the Pacific ocean, there is destined to be written one of the greatest chapters in world history. It is largely up to Californians to say what that chapter shall contain.

METHODISM IS UNITED

There was something of deep historic significance in the count of 882 to 13 by which Methodism the other day closed the breach that had yawned between the Northern and Southern branches since the bitter days of the Civil war.

The overwhelming vote in favor of union was cast at the recent national conference of the denomination held at Springfield, Mass. The importance of the decision to bury this old issue is heightened when the vast followings of these two branches are realized.

The Northern church numbers 4,279,586; the Southern 2,405,257. The two, united, number 6,684,843, the largest Protestant denomination in the United States.

The vote to reunite heals practically the last remaining open wound between North and South. No longer does a sword of Damocles hang over the Mason-Dixon line. With the Methodists united, the last vestige of venomous sectionalism will soon pass. After sixty-five grim years, the great war is at last over.

COMPETITION AND PUBLICITY

The world has been turned topsy-turvy in the last ten years, possibly the war is responsible, possibly not. It used to be that the man with learning could command the best job and the highest wages. Now the mechanic earns as much or more than the man who works with his brain. It used to be that sheer merit determined the status of a man in the working world. Now one may have ability, experience and all the qualifications for the job but unless he has a good pair of lungs to blow his own horn he sees others pass him in the race.

There are so many people wanting to do the same thing, so many after the same berth, competition is growing so constantly in intensity, that the man who is modest and retiring and prefers to show rather than tell what he can do loses out. In this age of publicity and competition it is not so much what can you do as have you the faculty and the facilities for getting your name before the public? It is not so much how hard can you work as how loud can you "holler?"

Judging from all reports, a honeymoon trip around the world in a flying machine isn't exactly a safe and sane undertaking. Danger of suddenly bumping into a mountain in a fog bank, and nothing but canned goods and icicles on the bill of fare, make an auto trip through sunny California, with a vine-covered bungalow awaiting their return, a much more pleasing program for newlyweds.

The Glendale Evening News had a news story recently about Joseph M. Olmstead of 364 West California, celebrating his 88th birthday by going to the polls and casting his vote. More power to him! He puts many a younger man to shame.

The hold-up says: "Give me all your money!" The modern divorcee, meaning the same thing, but making her demands in fewer words, merely says: "Alimony!"

If we should have a dry season after they get all of those big dams built, no doubt our Mr. Hatfield would agree to fill the reservoirs at so much a fill.

Old John Jolt reasons this way: "Our friends who have entered the spirit world would tell us what's ahead of us if they thought we could stand the shock."

THE ECHO

Popomac

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A curious and notable play has seen the light this season. It is called "The Man Who Ate the Popomac."

The popomac was supposed to be a kind of strange fruit from China with a most delicious taste. However, it not only had a most powerful offensive odor, but anyone who ate it became infected with the same disagreeable smell.

The play was a sort of parable, but the author declined to indicate what it is intended to teach. And perhaps, after all, the best sort of parable is one that leaves you free to draw your own moralizing from it.

Being both fond of moralizing and rather addicted to the habit, I cannot resist saying that to me the message of the play is the tragedy of disgust. Perhaps more lives are blighted, more feelings hurt, more hearts broken, more hopes lost and more smash played generally with happiness by disgust than from any other cause.

The true opposite of love is not hate; it is disgust; in fact hate is not always so very far from love, whereas love and disgust never merge. Our sense of smell is our most aristocratic faculty. It can most subtly draw us toward or repel us from another.

It is the most typical physical symbol of the positive and negative electricity of the soul. There are what you might call soul odors.

A gentle and noble deed has a delicate and delightful aroma. A cowardly and brutal act repels us as a mighty stench.

One curious thing about disgust is that it is often and indeed usually caused by some deed of self indulgence. We all want to gain, to become prominent, to gratify our desires and to be comfortable. One would naturally suppose that for one to succeed in this direction would impress another favorably. On the contrary, it does not. It is for this reason that when a lady wishes to charm she is careful not to feed grossly, but to pick and dally with her food. She realizes the repellent effect of the appearance of strong indulgence. So also Daphne is careful to show to Chloe that she is cold and indifferent no matter how warm her affection may be.

That the common do not like a very wealthy man is not wholly to be explained by envy and the inferiority complex. The millionaire has indulged himself too much in success. There is a bad odor.

The primitive instinct of every human being is for self expression; that is, for the full outflow of our desires. But a secondary instinct, one that comes later in the story of evolution, is the instinct for self control. So that one who lets himself go, gets what he wants and satisfies his body and spirit to the full, suggests rather the beastly past of mankind, while one who gives evidence of constant self mastery, who is always above his pleasures, who can deny himself with ease, gives the impression of a true gentleman.

Even in the matter of life itself, if we are too greedy we are disgusting. Patriots and martyrs who have flung away their lives in a supreme act of self suppression, shed the most delicate and rare odor in the pages of history.

I do not know at all whether the author of Popomac intended to put all this in it, but it is Copyright 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

WHAT DAWES HAS DONE

(From San Francisco Chronicle)

General Dawes and his American associates, Messrs. Young and Robinson, have returned to their own business and their own country, confident that they and the European members of the commission have ascertained and correctly set forth what, as a practical business matter, can be collected from the German people for reparations.

They have also taken the steps which must be taken to enable the German people to function.

With what the Germans ought to pay the committee was not concerned. Nor did it take into account the political bearings of anything. It dealt with Germany precisely as a rational creditors' committee does with an ordinary bankrupt with very large assets but still larger liabilities. It presumably refrained from indicating the total which could be collected only because it was expressly forbidden to do so. It stated what could be collected per year, but not how many years the payments could continue. It is clear, however, that the committee does not believe that the allies will ever get the $32,000,000,000 which they claim.

All the governments concerned have accepted the report as "a basis for discussion," postponing action until after the German and French elections on May 11.

Premier MacDonald of Great Britain, addressing his parliamentary constituents, stated that his government accepts the report not only "in principle," as the diplomats say, but in spirit. That means that the total payments must be less than $32,000,000,000 and that he hopes to work in complete harmony with the French government toward a final and permanent settlement.

BASEBALL MONUMENT

(From Pasadena Star-News)

A suitable monument to baseball, the national game, is to be placed in Potomac park, near the White House, in Washington. This is to be by act of Congress, and the monument is to be the gift of the American League. Congressman Luce of Massachusetts, chairman of the House committee which recommended the erection of the monument, gave glowing tribute to baseball. He said:

"We may welcome the impulse that would place in the nation's capital worthy embodiment of our most typical sport, that which we call 'the National Game.' It is the most typical not simply because it is most played and watched, but because it best reflects the American nature. On the one hand, it has no element of brutality; on the other, no element of effeminacy. It calls for quick, sharp action, the keen eye, the strong arm, the fleet foot, the instant response to critical need, the matching of wits, the cool judgment, the team play and, above all, the friendly rivalry that Americans most admire and enjoy. To symbolize these things in some fitting work of art is worth while."

This is a graphic characterization of baseball. Well is this game compared with the noble athletics of the ancient Greeks from which sprang some of the most virile examples of great statuary art. Baseball develops physical excellence and mental alertness of the highest degree. It is a game that does much for its players, as well as affording intense interest for the millions of spectators who see this fine sport each recurring season.

THE WOMAN BUYS

(From Hollywood Citizen)

Advertising men have a corollary to the theorem that "the woman buys." It is, "the woman buys. Sell to her and you sell to all."

"Ninety-five per cent of all the buying in the United States is done, directly or indirectly, by women," declares the advertising director of the American Electric Railway Association.

Men think they do their own buying, but they don't, says this authority. Even if the wife doesn't go to the tailor's with her husband, her influence does.

TUNING IN WITH FATE

You say that Fate's against you
And that everything goes wrong?
You think there's something lacking
That would fill your heart with song?
Perhaps there is, good friend of mine,
It's not for me to say,
But if you've searched in vain for it
Let's try another way.

Suppose we take a look within
And view the soul and heart,
Let's see if you, in any way,
Have failed to do your part;
Have you been kind, and just, and true,
And always on the square?
Have you been prompt to offer aid
To others in despair?

Have you been quick to own your fault
When you've been in the wrong?
And have you helped, with heart in tune,
To gladden with your song?
My friend—why all those burning tears?
Why sob and tremble so?
Your path has been the self-same path
That each of us must go.

You've bared your very heart and soul—
No hidden things remain;
And hark! There comes your treasured song,
And Fate doth smile again.

Anytown

Character Sketches

Did you ever hear what became of Natalie Powers of Anytown? Natalie was one of our brightest and cleverest young women. The last I heard of her she hadn't married. Natalie was the kind of girl who is popular with young men up to a certain point. Men don't like a girl to be lazy and they don't want her to be too energetic either, if they are going to marry her.

Natalie was a very good-looking girl, fair with blonde hair and blue eyes and regular features. She was not very tall and inclined to be pleasingly plump. She was a great student of the drama. (Natalie never made the mistake of pronouncing the word with a short a) having aspirations toward the stage but it seemed she was more anxious that we, in Anytown, who had few opportunities to see plays should learn what constituted "really good drama" than she was to become a great actress herself. I thought this was very unselfish of Natalie.

Any other girl with her talent would have gone to New York and made a great name for herself on Broadway.

Under Natalie's direction we studied Shakespeare and Ibsen, and gave "home talent" plays.

She kept Anytown in a constant turmoil of entertainment.

But Natalie was the kind of girl you could depend upon to do the hard things, the things no one else wanted to do. She never shirked. If some one was needed to solicit for the church dinner, you could count on her; was there a vacancy on the program committee of the woman's club, Natalie would take the place.

"Make Natalie chairman of the entertainment committee for the Missionary convention." "Let us put Natalie in charge of the music for the graduation exercises."

"Natalie is just the one to be stage manager for the school entertainment." That is the way duties were shifted to Natalie's shoulders.

Our municipal tennis court was one of Natalie's accomplishments. She went to see Mayor Caswell personally, beseeching the lion in his den, and obtained permission to use those vacant lots over near the depot. Then she conscripted several of her admirers to lay out the court. And then, at parties, the hostesses of Anytown depended on Natalie to "keep the ball rolling."

Of course Natalie enjoyed all this. She was the type that likes to manage people and things but, at the same time, she was very unselfish in her devotion to Anytown and its people.

THE STORY

Dr. Ralph Leslie, just graduated from medical college, ships on the yacht Ella as deck steward. He is penniless and thinks this will be a good opportunity to recuperate from an attack of typhoid fever. Marshall Turner is the owner. His wife, her sister Elsa, a divorcee named Mrs. Johns, and a man named Vail are the passengers. There is a crew of fourteen, including the stewardess, a maid, the cook and William, the butler. Charlie Jones, a German sailor with a bent for religion, is friendly to Leslie. Captain Richardson and Turner have an argument over running the ship. Turner, drunk, appoints Singleton captain. Richardson knocks Singleton down. Mrs. Johns asks Leslie to sleep near the passengers' staterooms, in a pantry, as she is afraid of trouble. One night Schwartz, the second mate, disappears overboard, though nobody sees him jump. On the night of August 12, Leslie wakes in the pantry to find himself locked in. Vail, Captain Richardson and the maid, Karen, are found murdered with an axe. The men put Leslie in charge, and they decide to head back to port. The axe is found where it was flung into the stewards' berth. She says that Karen had been roused by a bell in the night, she thought Mrs. Turner's, but Mrs. Turner says she did not ring. Karen told the stewardess she thought Turner, who had annoyed her, was outside the door. She opened the door, screamed and fell dead. Mrs. Sloan said she saw a figure in white in the door throw the axe toward her. The crew imprisons Singleton. Leslie and Burns share responsibility for keeping up discipline. They lock the axe in the captain's cabin and Leslie takes the key. They put the bodies in a lifeboat. Leslie sees Elsa pick up the pantry key in Turner's room. She tries to throw it into the sea, but Leslie sees her and she gives it to him. At night, Adams, in the crew's nearest cabin, has a white figure crawling along the deck. He hurled down a marlin spike, which disappears, but is found next day fastened over the side of the ship. Then one night Burns is knocked unconscious, the key is taken from his neck, the captain's cabin is opened and the axe disappears, with its sure evidence of finger prints.

XXI—THE TRIAL BEGINS

It was late that night when the Ella anchored in the river at Philadelphia. We were not allowed to land. The police took charge of ship, crew and passengers. The men slept heavily on deck, except Burns, who developed a slight fever from a cold, and moved about restlessly.

It seemed to me that the vigilance of the officers was exerted largely to prevent an escape from the vessel and not sufficiently for the safety of those on board. I spoke of this, and a guard was placed at the companionway again. Thus I saw Elsa Lee for the last time until the trial.

She was dressed as she had been in the afternoon, in a dark cloth suit of some sort, and I did not see her until I had spoken to the officer in charge. She turned at my voice and called me to join her where she stood.

"We are back again, Leslie."

"Yes, Miss Lee."

Back to—what? To live the whole thing over again in a courtroom? If only we could go away, anywhere, and try to forget."

She had no expected answer, and I had none ready. I was thinking—Heaven help me—that there were a few things I would not forget, if I could; the lift of her lashes as she looked up at me; the few words we had had together, the day she had told me the deck was not clean; the night I had touched her hand with my lips.

"We are to be released, I believe," she said, "on our own—some legal term, I forget it."

"Recognition, probably."

"Yes. You do not know law as well as medicine."

"I am sorry—no; and I know very little medicine."

"But you sewed up a wound!"

"As a matter of fact," I admitted, "that was my initial performance, and it is badly done. It—it pucks."

She turned on me a trifle impatiently.

"Why do you make such a secret of your identity?" she demanded. "Is it a pose? Or—have you a reason for concealing it?"

"It is not a pose; and I have nothing to be ashamed of, unless poverty."

"Of course not. What do you mean by poverty?"

"The common garden variety sort. I have hardly a dollar in the world. As to my identity—if it interests you at all—I graduated in medicine last June. I spent the last of the money that was to educate me in purchasing a dress suit to graduate in, and a supper by way of celebration. The dress suit helped me to my diploma. The supper gave me typhoid."

"So that was it?"

"Not jail, you see."

"And what are you going to do now?"

I glanced around to where a police officer stood behind us watchfully.

"Now! Why, now I go to jail in earnest!"

"You have been very good to us," she said wistfully. "We have all been strained and nervous. Maybe you have not thought I noticed or—appreciated what you were doing; but I have, always. You have given all of yourself for us. You have not slept or eaten. And now you are going to be imprisoned. It isn't just."

I tried to speak lightly, to reassure her.

"Don't be unhappy about that," I said. "A nice, safe jail, where one may sleep and eat, and eat and sleep—oh, I shall be very comfortable! And if you wish to make me exceedingly happy, you will see that they let me have a razor."

"But, to my surprise, she buried her face in her arms. I could not believe at first that she was crying. The policeman had wandered across to the other rail, and stood looking out at the city lights, his back to us. I put my hand out to touch her soft hair, then drew it back. I could not take advantage of her sympathy, of the hysterical excitement of that last night on the Ella. I put my hands in my pockets, and held them there, clenched, lest, in spite of my will, I reach out to take her in my arms."

And now I come, with some hesitation, to the trial. Hesitation, because I relied on McWhirter to keep a record. And McWhirter, from his notes, appeared to have been carried away at times by excitement, and either jotted down rows of unintelligible words, or waited until evening and made up his notes, like a woman's expense account, from a memory never noticeable for accuracy.

At dawn, the morning after we anchored, Charlie Jones roused me, grinning.

"Friend of yours over the rail, Leslie," he said. "Wants to take you ashore."

I knew no one in Philadelphia except the chap who had taken me yachting once, and I felt pretty certain that he would not associate Leslie the football player with Leslie the doctor. Below me, just visible in the river mist of the early morning, was a small boat from which two men were looking up. One was McWhirter.

"Hello, old top," he cried. "Or is it you behind that beard?"

"Yes, I all right, Mac," I said, somewhat huskily, ending with a hiccup, and seeing him again, his kindly face behind his glasses, the cheerful faint in me which was his contribution to our friendship—even the way he shook his own hand in default of mine—my throat tightened.

Here, after all, was home and a friend.

He looked up at the rail, and motioned to a rope that hung there.

"Get your stuff and come with us for breakfast," he said. "You look as if you hadn't eaten since you left."

"I'm afraid I can't, Mac."

"They are not going to hold you, are they?"

"For a day or so, yes."

Mac's reply to this was a violent resume of the ancestry and present lot condition of the Philadelphia police, ending with a request that I jump over, and let them go to the place he had just designated as their abiding place in eternity. On looking down, however, he subsided into a low muttering.

The story of how McWhirter happened to be boating on the bottom of the Delaware river before 5 o'clock in the morning was a long one—it was months before I got it in full. Briefly, going home from the theatre in New York the night before, he had bought an "extra" which had contained a brief account of the Ella's return.

He seems to have gone into a frenzy of excitement at once. He borrowed a small car, and was fully designated as a "road house"—and assembled in it, in wild confusion, one suit of clothes for me, his own, and much too small, one hypodermic case, a bottle of brandy, a bottle of digitalis, one police officer, and a crowd of lawyers of the same vintage in law that Mac and I were in medicine.

At the last moment, fearful that the police might know who I was, he had flung in a scrapbook in which he had pasted—with a glue that was to make his fortune—records of my exploits on the football field.

A dozen miles from Philadelphia the little machine had turned over on a curve, knocking all the law and most of the enthusiasm out of Walters, the legal gentleman, and smashing the brandy bottle. McWhirter had picked himself up, kicked viciously at the car, and gathering up his impedimenta, had made the rest of the journey by foot and street car.

His wrath at finding me a prisoner was unbounded; his scorn at Walters, the attorney, for not confounding the police with law enough to free me, was furious and contemptuous. He picked up the oars in sullen silence, and, leaning on them, called a loud and defiant farewell for the benefit of the officer.

"All right," he said. "An hour or so won't make much difference. But you'll be free today, all right, all right. And don't let them bluff you boy. If the police get funny, tackle them and throw 'em overboard, one by one. You can do it."

He made an insulting gesture at the police, picked up his oars, and rowed away into the mist.

But I was not free that day, nor for many days. As I had expected, Turner, his family, Mrs. Johns and the stewardess were released, after examination. The rest of us were taken to jail—Singleton as a suspect, the others to make sure of their presence at the trial.

The murders took place on the morning of August 12. The grand jury met late in September and found an indictment against Singleton. The trial began on the 15th of November.

The confinement was terrible. Accustomed to regular exercise as I was, I suffered mentally and physically. I heard nothing from Elsa Lee, and I missed McWhirter, who had got his hospital appointment, and who wrote me cheering letters on padded notes from order books or on prescription blanks. He was in Boston.

He got leave of absence for the trial, and, as I explained, the following notes are his, not mine. The case was tried in the United States court, before Circuit Judge Willard, and District Judge McDowell. The United States was represented.

EXCHANGE CLUB MEMBERS HOSTS AT DINNER DANCE

Brilliant Affair Is Given In Honor of Guests From Neighboring Cities

The Tuesday Afternoon club-house was the scene of a brilliant affair last night when the members of the Glendale Exchange club held a dinner dance honoring members of Exchange clubs at Los Angeles, Long Beach, Hollywood, Alhambra, Pasadena and South Pasadena. The event was attended by nearly 250 persons and was the bright spot in the social activities of the Glendale club.

Headed by R. E. Johnston, president of the club, the guests filled into the banquet room shortly before 7 o'clock. Special music numbers accompanied the dinner, and were enjoyed by those present. Greetings were extended to the Glendale club by representatives of the visiting clubs, after President Johnston had welcomed out-of-town Exchangeites.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson and his picked quartet, delighted the guests with several selections, followed by the singing of the Exchange club "Unity" song. Long Beach furnished a quartet which vied with the local club singers for honors.

Spirit of Carnival
 The carnival spirit prevailed throughout the dinner and the dance which followed. Noise-making favors were given all present, and were used with clamorous effects. Varicolored balloons floated over the heads of the merry-makers during the evening.

The reception committee, headed by President Johnston, consisted of H. M. Bennett, Secretary T. F. Culhane and C. F. Stuart. W. A. McCormack was in charge of the arrangements for the dinner and the dance. Music for the occasion was furnished by "The Four of Us" orchestra.

Commission Opposes Store Building Plan

J. H. Randall, S. E. Kinch and P. J. Hayselden, members of the city planning commission, last night unanimously voted to recommend to the City Council that they deny an application from Barnum & Walters, Sparr Heights subdividers, for permission to erect a store building above the Community House on Canada boulevard. Commissioners T. W. Watson and Harry Hague were absent.

The action was taken on the recommendation of H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent. While no objection to the location of a store building at this point was voiced, it was the type of building that met with the disapproval of the city officials.

INDIAN MERCHANT LECTURES ON TEA

Oriental Shows Products of Ridgway Company for Local Concern

Deva Ram Sukul, Indian tea merchant, is attracting considerable attention at his booth in the Glendale Groceries, 116-118 N. Brand boulevard, where he is demonstrating the products of the Ridgway Tea company. With the reputation of being one of the best informed orientals who has lectured in America, Sukul is one of the most interesting persons to visit Glendale in some time.

Besides demonstrating and lecturing in this country, Sukul has been the special representative of the company in India. He knows personally Mahatma Gandhi and is a great admirer of the Indian leader. He has chosen his character for the topic of many of his lectures.

Widely Educated
 Sukul was educated in England but did not graduate work at the University of Chicago. His modern ideas thus gained, tainted with the Indian traits, form a novel philosophy.

His belief is that world commerce, conducted on principles of truth and justice, and with resistance to the temptation to exploit backward people, is undoubtedly the greatest civilizing and unifying force in the world.

Has Psychic Power
 Sukul admits that he has some slight "psychic" power. "My father is a Brahmin priest and we are adherents of the old Vedantic beliefs which Buddha later clarified," he explained. "By that religion occult powers are developed just as is the gift of music in your country."

He will continue the demonstrations at the Glendale Groceries until the end of the week, and through the courtesy of the management will return on May 24 and will serve Ridgway teas at the lawn fete to be given that afternoon on the grounds of the Brand estate under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Kurile Island Gale Menaces Army Flyers

TOKIO, May 14.—Storms of increasing severity which are centering about Paramushiru island in the Japanese Kuriles, where the three American round-the-world flyers are expected hourly, are causing some anxiety here.

A sudden gale washing over the Hokushu Maru, guide ship to the American destroyers Pope and Ford, which are awaiting the flyers, drowned nine sailors and the captain.

NEWTON CO. HOST TO EMPLOYEES AT DINNER AT CLUB

Third Annual Affair Marked By Spirit of Loyalty In Organization

The J. A. Newton Electric company of 154 South Brand boulevard was host last night to its employees at a dinner party held at the Oakmont Country club, the third annual affair of its kind. Covers were laid for thirty-four, among them the wives of the firm members, Mrs. J. A. Newton, Mrs. O. W. Andresen and Mrs. W. L. Hyde.

Announcement by J. A. Newton, president of the company, that W. L. Hyde had been taken into the organization as superintendent of construction was one of the features of the evening. O. W. Andresen, secretary-treasurer, joined with Mr. Newton in welcoming the new member.

Betrothal Gifts
 Another high light of the party was the presentation to Miss Martha Dodson by the employees of a beautiful silver urn set, including percolator, tray, sugar bowl and creamer, and the presentation to her by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Newton and Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Andresen of a Royal electric cleaner. Miss Dodson has been with the company over three years, and is soon to go to Ogden, Utah, to be married. In the presentation speeches, the high esteem in which Miss Dodson has been held by employers and employees was brought out.

Announcement was made that the third annual picnic of the J. A. Newton Electric company will take place this year at Long Beach, on Decoration Day Friday, May 30, where it was held in 1923. This is a time when the families of employers and employees join in a merry outing. Mr. Newton stated in making the announcement. The trip will be made caravan style in autos, with banners bearing the company's name, in conjunction with Glendale, prominently displayed.

Loyalty Is Keynote
 After the dinner, there were several talks by department heads, delivered with a view to finding out what each department can do to help the others, so that the public may be better served. The speeches revealed the fact that a high spirit of loyalty and co-operation exists between the employees of the J. A. Newton Electric company and the firm members, and that, like Glendale, this organization is growing rapidly.

Bound for Trial on Intoxication Charge

James Davidson of the Home Auto camp was held under $500 cash or $1000 property bond by Judge E. H. Lowe this morning on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Davidson was arrested shortly after 8 o'clock last night at the corner of San Fernando road and Cerritos avenue by Detective Sergeants Charles P. Blake and H. A. Stanford following a collision driven by Loomis Richardson, 326 West Magnolia street.

Davidson was injured in the crash, but no one in the Richardson car was hurt.

CLUB DELEGATES TO CONVENTIONS NAMED BY BOARD

Board Picks Representatives
To State and Biennial
Federation Meet

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.
Tuesday afternoon club women are sharing with other California club women in the anticipation of the twenty-third annual convention of the California Federation of Women's clubs May 30 and 31 in Pasadena, and of the biennial of the General Federation, June 3 to 12 in Los Angeles.

At the meeting of the official board yesterday morning the official Tuesday afternoon club delegates were named to both gatherings. At the afternoon club meeting the call to the state convention was read by Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president. Names of delegates and alternates to this gathering were read by Mrs. Mabel V. Hunter, club secretary.

Delegates to the biennial will be Mesdames Daniel Campbell, A. H. Montgomery, F. C. Ayars, E. W. Hayward, Harry S. McCormick, M. E. Plasterer, H. E. Bartlett, C. W. Houston, A. A. Barton and Miss Eva Daniels.

For State Meet
At the state convention the latter part of this month, official delegates will be Mesdames Daniel Campbell, John Robert White, Jr., B. O. Holbrook, A. H. Montgomery, Homer D. Lockwood, H. C. Wilcox, G. R. Postle, Arthur Pomeroy, S. C. Packer, Mabel Franklin Ocker, C. O. Kling, A. R. Chappell, Miss Eva Daniels; and the following alternates: Roy Ballagh, Herbert D. Porter, W. H. Verity, H. W. Raketon, H. A. McPherson, C. J. Newcomb, F. M. Brown and Miss May Lyon.

During the biennial convention there will be a play day, Saturday, June 7, and on the afternoon of that day from 2 till 6 o'clock the Tuesday afternoon club will hold open house for all club women motoring through Glendale who are desirous of visiting the clubhouse.

At the board meeting yesterday it was voted to take out a club membership in the Mental Hygiene association.

Gift to President
During the noon hour a luncheon was served to the "official family" and with the final course Mrs. Campbell was presented with a pink and white cake, bearing the words "Mother's Day." The cake was a gift from Mrs. Bell, wife of the custodian of the clubhouse.

At the club meeting in the afternoon it was announced that next Tuesday will be "bundle day" for the Near East Relief, and that all club members desiring to contribute can leave bundles at the clubhouse.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means, outlined plans for the garden fete Saturday, May 24 at the L. C. Brand estate. She stated that it would begin at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and close before midnight. Programs in the afternoon and at night will be given by the Pearl Koller Studio of Dancing and Dramatic Art and admission at the gate will give everyone the privilege of enjoying these programs.

There will be dancing on the tennis courts at night. Swimming in the pool will be another entertainment feature. Mrs. Alexander Mitchell is to have charge of the swimming.

Reservations for bridge can be made with Mrs. Harry Lockwood and for Mah Jongg with Mrs. T. G. Widmeyer.

Musical Program
The program at the meeting yesterday was of special interest. Miss Flora Kilpatrick, soprano whom Glendale is proud to claim as a resident, gave a group of songs accompanied by Mrs. Roberta T. Young. She sang "Ah, Love But a Day" and "The Roses" (Gilbert); "A Memory" (Rudolph Ganz) and "Rose in the Bud."

Miss Kilpatrick is always more than gracious in singing for the club and by her various appearances during the year the club members have come to know her and admire both her personality and beautiful voice.

Another artist on the program was Madame Adoree Krasinska, dramatic dancer, who appeared under the management of Walter H. Cooke, who conducts dancing classes every Saturday at the clubhouse.

Madame Krasinska gave two dances, both of which were wonderfully artistic and proved as justly deserved the success she has claimed in the east and abroad.

Late in the afternoon Rosemonde Rae Wright spoke on "American Animal Defence," making a stirring appeal for the protection of all animals.

A $2,000,000 robbery caused excitement in Salt Lake until it was learned that the pre-war valuation was given on that amount in German marks stolen.

Chautauqua Opens Tonight

The Paramount Marimba band from Guatemala, which has been the musical sensation of New York and the eastern vaudeville circuits, will be one of the unusual features of Chautauqua, coming on the opening night, which is tonight.

The Paramount Marimba band from Guatemala, musical sensation of New York and eastern vaudeville circuits, opens the 1924 Ellison-White Chautauqua season in Glendale tonight, under the big tent at the southwest corner of Orange and Harvard streets. The performance starts at 8 o'clock.

Since the arrival in this country of Mr. Mata and his native Guatemalan players the band has been a sensation. It is something so refreshingly new to Americans and the quaint Central American instruments are so melodious that the public has clamored for its appearance to the extent of holding the organization in the east until the present season.

The company first made its appearance in the New York Hippodrome, playing there for an entire season and scoring an exceptional success. It subsequently played under management of Florenz Zeigfeld, Jr., for two seasons, and later on the Million Dollar pier at Atlantic City.

Many metropolitan successes have placed the Paramount Marimba band in a class distinctive and apart from any similar musical attraction.

The Glendale committee comprising: C. H. Kirkman, R. E. Downing, Chas. L. Chandler, H. M. Butts, Winnifred Traver, H. D. Charlton, Ida M. Waite, W. H. Reynolds, H. C. Patterson, Mrs. J. E. Phillips, D. H. Smith, C. A. Brandstater, M. O. Liturol, E. U. Emery, W. E. Watkins, M. D. James H. Little, Kenneth W. D. Ford, H. J. Olmstead, Mrs. Mary L. Russell, Frederick J. Kelly, W. A. Saylor, Rand Pereira, Roy A. Blodgett, Chas. W. Farmer, Alva R. Faulkner, Mrs. N. M. Knass, Hal A. Curtis, N. O. Maus, Chas. H. Cushing, Mrs. A. L. Hays, Mrs. C. Clifford Riggs, Dr. J. E. Eckles, G. BOARD ANNOUNCES AID FOR LIBRARY

Second Stinson Fund to Add
Books at Occidental;
Frown on Dances

The creation of a $25,000 Charles M. Stinson Library fund, in memory of Charles M. Stinson, friend of Occidental college and a generous benefactor, was announced by President R. D. Bird in chapel meeting, following the first monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees. It is the second donation in the name of Mr. Stinson, and the income of this fund will be used to add new books on religion, ethics and philosophy, the studies in which Mr. Stinson was especially interested.

Final action was taken by the board in the matter of honoring two of Occidental's friends, Curtis Wilbur, secretary of the navy, and John Cumstock, of the Southern Museum of Los Angeles, when the board decided to honor these men with special degrees on Commencement day, June 12. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur will be awarded the Degree of Bachelor of Laws and Mr. Cumstock will be presented with the Master of Arts degree.

The board also approved the plans of the new Greek Theatre made possible by the many friends of the institution living in Eagle Rock, who recently made known their desire to see the proposed theatre a reality. Dr. Ernest Allen of the faculty has been granted a year's absence and will gather data for the Hispanic-American history chair recently created at Occidental. Dean Robert Clelland will resume his duties as head of the History department and assumes the new position of Dean of Men next September, after spending a year's leave of absence studying in Mexico and Washington.

The board also disapproved of dances in the names of Occidental or the various classes. They will allow the alumni of the organizations to hold dances off the campus if duly registered with the social committee of the college and properly chaperoned.

Why I Am In Glendale

Four years ago we decided we had gone the limit of eastern winters, where one waded through nine months of discomfort to enjoy three months of summer. We started out from our Massachusetts home the first day of June, 1919, drove across in our "Velig" so as not to miss any of the bumps or sights, and finally landed in Los Angeles. Not caring to live in so large a city, we made trips to the surrounding towns, and of course came out to Glendale. The prospects were so pleasing we came back again the next day and purchased our home on North Jackson street. The population was then 13,000, so you can imagine how much we have enjoyed watching it grow. How unconsciously one becomes a booster. Last year I visited my family in the east, and I surely spread the glad tidings of our beautiful city, our wonderful hills and mountains, the everlasting sunshine, flowers and our trees, our parks and our roads, with our never-ending automobile trips, our winter picnics, and then our schools, which surely outclass anything to be seen elsewhere. Also our city of well and fashionably dressed people, not 3 months, but 12 months of the year. My husband thinks my trip back of three months will mean thousands added to our population. Perhaps he knows how much and how fast I can talk!

Sincerely yours,
(MRS.) HARRIET A. WINTERS,

C. C. DIRECTORS DISCUSS BUDGET FOR ADVERTISING

Choice of Media Brings Out Varied Opinions From Board Members

Discussion of the tentative budget for the expenditure of the Chamber of Commerce advertising fund occupied the attention of the directors at the weekly board meeting last night, when a number of points were raised that will be submitted to the board of control at its meeting this afternoon.

President W. E. Hewitt occupied the chair, after an absence of over a month, during which he was traveling in the east, and was warmly welcomed by his associates. The discussion concerned itself largely with the choice of the various media recommended in the proposed budget, and the angle from which the main appeal is to be made through the newspapers and magazines brought out a number of varying opinions. Director L. H. Wilson contended that the principal expenditure should be made through southern California newspapers in order to catch the visitors and new residents in this region, while Director Earle C. Pendroy held that the appeal should be made in the middle west and eastern papers, before the prospective visitors started for California at all. The latter favored a national campaign, rather than a local one, contending that the thousands of people who are planning to come to this state would be more strongly influenced by advertisements in their home or regional papers than they would be by those that might appear in southern publications.

Nearby Cities
Mr. Wilson took issue with Mr. Pendroy on this point, citing the instances of cities in this immediate vicinity that have materially added to their population within recent months by their local campaigns.

Letters of thanks addressed to the Chamber of Commerce and to P. J. Hayselden by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce were read by Secretary E. F. Sanders, conveying the appreciation of that city for the assistance rendered by Glendale in putting over the Long Beach harbor bond issue of $5,000,000 last week. It developed that Director Hayselden had paid out of his own pocket for the band that he took to Long Beach, rather than see Glendale's share in the bond parade fall flat, and the board voted to reimburse him for the amount he had expended.

A proposal from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that one of its experts be brought to Glendale to aid in making an industrial survey was received, and this matter will be seriously considered by the board in connection with the plans that are already under way.

Will Inspect Plant
Director Frank Fox invited the board to visit the plant of the Fox-Woodsum Lumber company, 714 East California street, together with others who are interested in inspecting the establishments of local concerns, and Secretary Sanders was instructed to invite a number of business men to accompany the board next Monday to go over the firm's plans and to be the guests of Mr. Fox at the Oakmont Country club at luncheon later.

The plans of the Greater San Fernando Valley association to push the completion of three important valley highways were explained by Director George B. Karr, who, with L. T. Rowley, has been chosen as a director of the association.

These three projects are the Victory boulevard, Riverside drive, and the Sepulveda Canyon road, all of which, he claimed, would be of inestimable benefit to this city by bringing a much larger body of traffic through Glendale, and also in relieving congestion on the present highways, besides offering a quicker and more direct route to the beaches, as the Sepulveda Canyon road expected to do.

Glendale's Duty
Mr. Karr pointed out that Glendale, as the largest city in the San Fernando valley, should cultivate closer relations with the rest of the valley cities, and should support any project that is launched for the development of the immense and fertile region lying immediately adjacent to this city, and he was assured that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce would be behind any plan that promised to aid in that development.

Plans for closer relations between the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee and that appointed by the Glendale Realty Board were discussed, and it is expected that one concrete result from this proposal will be manifested in the near future.

Seven new members were admitted at last night's meeting.

Publish Senior Issue Of Occidental Paper

The Occidental College Senior edition of the college newspaper was published and distributed today over the campus yesterday. Harold Reavis, editor of the snappy number, deserved credit for the type of publication issued. It was overflowing with real news and records of the various members of that class, interwoven with numerous jokes. The paper told of the prominent seniors what they expect to do when they graduate and a history of their class during their four years at Occidental.

Thousands of emissaries to be circulating around the eastern towns and cities, boosting the industrial, commercial and residential advantages of Southern California, while additional thousands of tourists are out from the east, looking around for themselves. So much should we think of our emissaries that we should organize groups to go to the trains with them and send them off right, presenting them with literature to distribute among their eastern friends, with a view to stimulating interest in Southern California among more and more easterners. And we should in some way welcome the tourists from the east who will soon begin to arrive at the west terminals of the Santa Fe and other transcontinental lines, make them feel at home right away and see that they step out on the right foot and get the proper impression of Southern California from the start.

REHEARSALS FOR ORATORIO START

Enthusiasm of Music Club's Members Is Lauded by Director Smallman

John Smallman, director of the oratorio department of the Glendale Music club, was greatly gratified last night over the first rehearsal of Handel's "The Messiah" at the Harvard High school. There were fifty singers present and Mr. Smallman wants to double this number for the rehearsal next Tuesday night. Mrs. Perry Rogers served as accompanist.

A department is to meet at 7:45 o'clock every Tuesday night at the Harvard High school and all Glendaleans interested in singing are invited to join.

CITY ATTORNEYS PREPARE DRAFTS FOR ORDINANCES

Glendale Sewer Bond Sale
Will Be Hastened by
Civic Co-operation

Ray L. Morrow, city attorney, is co-operating with the city attorney of Los Angeles in preparing the draft of the ordinances to be passed by the respective City Councils before the approving opinion of the sale of Glendale's sewer bonds can be secured from O'Melvey, Millikin, Tuller & McNeil, Los Angeles bond experts. The city attorney stated today that he had submitted a rough draft of the ordinances to the Los Angeles authorities for them to approve before they are finally written. The Los Angeles city attorney's office is working steadily on these drafts, and a conference with Glendale officials will be held some time this week.

Rush Ordinances
Just when the ordinances in their approved form will be ready for presentation to the City Council is problematical, but they are being rushed with all possible speed. The legal experts are taking no chances in having another delay, and when the sale is made this time, it unquestionably will go through, city officials say. The ordinances adopted by the Glendale and Los Angeles bodies will probably be identical with the exception of the streets named therein. The bond market continues to be strong, and there is considerable information sought as to the prospective date of the sale, according to the city attorney.

The appearance of the sea's floor may be seen on the screen by the aid of a new system of automatic underwater photography.

FORDS

Gets mechanics' OK

Last Fall, when Zerolene "F" for Fords was first introduced to the public, the O'Neill Motor Company, Ford Agency, 68 Eighth Street, San Francisco, decided to try it out. They had their own mechanics check the results of its use.

The Foreman reports

At the end of a month, during which the new Zerolene "F" for Fords was given a variety of practical tests in comparison with other oils in service, this company wrote:

"Our foreman came in the other day, stating that Zerolene 'F' for Fords was the oil, the one that would really stand the test, and through which the best possible results could be obtained. We have proven to our own satisfaction, as well as the satisfaction of our organization, that Zerolene 'F' is the oil for Ford cars."

A Longer Life for Your Ford

Zerolene "F" for Fords is a clear, bright oil that looks its quality. It will increase gasoline mileage, reduce carbon removal operations, and lengthen the working life of every Ford in which it is used.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PEEP HOLE

Uncle Wiggily was home all alone in the hollow stump bungalow one day. For Nurse Jane had gone down town to the eleven and twelve cents store to buy a new dishpan. All of a sudden the rabbit gentleman heard what he thought was a knocking at his door.

"Come in!" he invited, and right after that he was sorry he had said this. "For it might be the Fox or the Wolf," thought the rabbit.

However, as neither of these unpleasant animals entered, Uncle Wiggily once more began to twinkle his pink nose, which he had stopped doing when he thought of the Wolf. Then the knock sounded again:

"Rat-a-tat-tat-tat-tat!"

"Dear me! Come in, if you please, whoever you are, and don't stand there knocking!" cried Mr. Longears. "If you're looking for Nurse Jane she isn't here."

"I'm not looking for any one special," a sad voice said. "I don't care who helps me, but I need help, for I am in trouble!" And then the knock sounded again: "Rat-a-tat-tat-tat-tat!"

"Dear me! Why don't you come in?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I shall be very glad to help you out of your trouble, whoever you are. But come in, don't stand there knocking."

"I can't come in!" said the voice. "I'm caught fast in a tangle of string! Come out and look!"

Uncle Wiggily hopped out of his bungalow and perched on the trunk of a tree nearby was a rather large bird, with red feathers on his head. He was tapping away at the tree with his sharp, strong bill.

"Oh, it's you, is it, Mr. Woodpecker?" cried Uncle Wiggily, for well he knew the bird. "And it was you tapping on the tree that I thought was some one knocking on my door: was it?"

"It was," answered the bird. "I thought if I knocked and tapped long enough and loudly enough that some one would come to help me. See, my legs are fast in some string that must have come off a boy's kite when it was caught in a tree. I can't pull my legs loose to fly away."

"I'll help you," kindly offered Uncle Wiggily. With a pair of scissors from Nurse Jane's work basket the rabbit gentleman soon set the woodpecker free.

"Thank you!" chattered the bird. And with that he began drilling the holes in the trunk and branches of the tree. Neat, little round holes in the wood the woodpecker bird drilled with his strong bill.

"Why are you making those peep holes?" asked Uncle Wiggily, for he noticed that, each time the bird made a hole, he looked down in it.

"These aren't exactly peep holes," laughed the woodpecker. "I am after worms and bugs that are inside the tree. To get them out I make holes, and then, of course, I have to peep in the holes to see if a worm or bug is there. In a way they are peep holes, though you can't look through them and see a baseball game, as you can do, sometimes, through a hole in the fence."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I used to look through peep holes in a fence when I was a young rabbit."

"There is very little to be seen in one of my peep holes," said the woodpecker bird. "Take a look. He drilled a hole near the ground for the rabbit, and Uncle Wiggily took a peep. All the bunny saw was a bug and a worm which the bird picked out."

Uncle Wiggily was just stepping away from the woodpecker's peep hole when, all of a sudden, there

I can't see a thing in this peep hole!

Rich Man Is Banished

J. T. MILLIKEN, JR., ordered by the Missouri courts to leave his native state, is wandering in parts unknown, an exile on the face of the earth.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—Money, money. Too much of it is responsible for all of the troubles of J. T. Milliken, Jr., St. Louis youth.

Milliken, who is 25 years old, is wandering in parts unknown, an exile from Missouri, the state in which he was born and raised, by order of the courts. A series of escapades, begun when he was 14, found their conclusion in banishment from the state.

He had shot a man. That the injury inflicted was not fatal was due to the same destiny that brought riches to one who had never raised his hand to earn them. Circuit court judges in St. Louis recognized in this scion of one of the state's leading families a problem, which imprisonment alone would not solve; at least in so far as the interests of the state of Missouri were concerned.

Chooses Exile

There was to be considered the fact that, at the end of his term in prison, Milliken would return to the scene of his escapades. He would always be a problem for the courts to consider. So the judges hopefully, it is related, offered him as an alternative to a jail term, banishment.

Milliken chose exile. And today he is wandering in parts unknown.

The hectic career of the youthful millionaire began at 14 when he was jailed for speeding, his first arrest. From then on he was a regular visitor to the courts, in St. Louis proper and in the state of Missouri's outlying counties. He was charged with reckless driving at forty, fifty, sixty and even seventy miles an hour.

He had barely reached legal maturity when he became involved in escapades that had their beginnings at road houses of dubious repute. Invariably these led him into the courts. He paid fine upon fine, ranging from $25 to $100. But these seemed to have no effect.

Reform Clause in Will

For a time it was thought that the death of his father would cause a change in the young man's manner of living. His father, John Milliken, known throughout the middle west as the "man with the Midas touch," exercised a foresight quite in keeping with a long and arduous career.

In his will he specified that, until the recalcitrant son mended his way, he would be limited to an income of $300 a month. This was in 1919.

But J. T., Jr., hasn't mended his way yet. "Perhaps banishment will do what fines couldn't."

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By R. T. BULKELEY, For International News Service.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 14.—Rising 503 feet above the street level, the home office building of the Travelers' Insurance Company, here, which is the tallest structure in New England, has taken on a new use since a room on its topmost floor has been assigned to a watchman for forest fires.

Ringed by wooded hills, Hartford is every now and then assailed by furious fires that often give town fire wardens in the suburbs many hours of hard work and do serious damage to timberlands that have in the past formed the basis of a valuable industry for Hartford.

The new fire station is considered the first of the sort in the country. From the midst of a community that is approaching a population of 200,000, the watchman observes a wide stretch of territory. The range of vision northward takes in the mountains about Springfield, of historic interest, and to the south ancient Middletown, squatted by the windward shore of the Connecticut river. Westward the Litchfield hills, Berkshires bound the horizon, while eastward the heart of Yankeeedom stretches to the Rhode Island border.

Fire watchers will report any signs of trouble seen in this vast stretch, most of which is wooded. More immediately they are looking after 11,000 acres of forest owned by the Talcott Mountain Forest Protective association.

Time woodlands seem to run down almost to the foot of the Travelers' building, though actually some miles of busy streets separate them. The building itself rises above clustered structures that range from ten to sixteen stories high, forming the heart of Connecticut's richest city.

Forest fires have for years been the bane of Connecticut timberland owners. April and May, September and October see the heaviest damage done. Fires that burn hundreds of acres range high in number, about 200 having occurred this spring in all parts of the state. Connecticut, following a fairly recently inaugurated policy, is developing a state forest system, having six such forests, totaling 6,497 acres of real woodland besides twenty-five state parks. "Little" Connecticut surprises the tourist who sees mile after mile of woodland along its highways, for the wonder grows how one small state can have so many miles of forest.

To guard its forests against fires the state has maintained fire stations on mountains in the northwestern section of the state and will extend the scheme.

One of the attractions among state forests is a stand of virgin pine, the last one known in the seaboard region of the north, at Cornwall, covering 1,282 acres of ground. "Cornwall pines" were preserved through purchase by a wealthy New Haven family, who prevented any cutting there over several generations until the state obtained them as a gift, and now their maintenance is assured. The pines at Cornwall, sloping up from the banks of the Housatonic river, form almost an outdoor museum of forestry.

Though getting away to a late start, Connecticut expects to be able to save a good share of its forest lands to be used by its people for recreation purposes. People are permitted to camp among the trees under adequate supervision, and thousands use the forests each year. The state park idea started first in Hartford, where Bushnell Park, now surrounding the Connecticut state capitol, was the first public park in the United States, and therefore for many years a marvel. Where New Haven had its green, a mere pasture land covering four square blocks, Bushnell Park was carefully laid out, and landscape gardeners were given free rein. Bushnell Park today is one of the attractive spots of New England, located almost in the center of Hartford.

Connecticut is now starting a "people's forest" movement, and has set aside a tract in Barkhamstead, on the boundary line of Massachusetts, as the first unit. Popular subscriptions are expected to yield funds enough to add 2,700 acres of land in the same district, a memorial to the forests of the past, according to the state park commission, which is guiding the movement.

Under guidance of Yale Forestry School, at New Haven, state officials are laboring to impress upon Connecticut residents the fact that, while their woodlands have been cut off rapidly, the trees may yet be saved and at the same time enough timber cut to supply the needs of the wood-working industry of the state. By the time the Pacific lumber supply is gone, as it is expected to be very high, Connecticut expects to be able to furnish its own lumber out of its own forests and still have plenty of growing trees left for recreation purposes and for future generations to use.

Views and Previews Theatres

By H. THOMPSON RICH of The Evening News Staff

THE GLENDALE

"After the Ball" is the picture now showing at the Glendale Theatre, an adaptation of the famous Charles K. Harris song and story. In the cast are Gaston Glass, Miriam Cooper, Edna Murphy and Robert Frazer. It is a Theatre Owners' Distributing corporation picture, made by Rencoc, Dallas Fitz-Gerald directing.

Ask your father or mother or uncle or aunt to tell you the story of "After the Ball." Nine times out of ten they'll strike up the old familiar tune and go right through it without a lapse. They'll tell you of the little girl who climbed an old man's knee, "asked for a story, do uncle, please." They'll tell you of the ardent young lover who took his sweetheart to the ball; who left her side to bring a glass of water, found his beloved in the arms of another man and let the glass drop from his paralyzed fingers, "broken, that's all, just as my heart was, after the ball."

STORK IS HOVERING

Film circles in Hollywood are much interested today in the report that the stork was hovering near the home of Harold Lloyd, screen comedian, and his wife, Mildred Davis, his former leading woman.

Lloyd and Miss Davis were married about a year ago since then their happy married life has aroused much favorable comment. An interesting announcement from the Lloyd home was expected this afternoon, it was reliably reported.

THE GATEWAY

"Bluff," with Agnes Ayers and Antonio Moreno, a snappy Sam Wood production, is the Paramount picture showing at the Gateway Theatre for today only. Other bluffs are recalled, when seeing this clever film. For instance, two deuces against a straight. "I was sitting up with a sick friend all night," the fellow with the trick dress-shirt front, "Mr. Blank is in conference," Dr. Cook, "This is absolutely pre-war stuff," etc.

Not to see "Bluff" is to do your funny-bone an injustice. And then, there is a pleasing love theme running all through, of course, and there's bright comedy, a bit of gripping pathos and a dash of old-time gripping melodrama, too, with Miss Ayers and Tony doing more finished work than in either "The Heart Raider" or "The Spanish Dancer."

"OUR MARY" TOO

"Mary Pickford's 'Boss' is showing to crowded houses at the Crystal Palace, Sydney, says Olga Valette, adding: 'Your Mary' is likewise 'Our Mary.' She is a great favorite in Australia. Every other girl on the street is a Mary Pickford, in their estimation, simulating her styles, actions and curls."

ALGER FOR SCREEN

The celebrated Horatio Alger stories are to be screened. Oh, Boy! Wesley Barry, our freckle-faced friend, is to play the leading role.

By EDWINA

From Book Of Life

"Life shapes itself out somehow; everyone adapts himself to circumstances somehow." A conventional observation. Most any one could have said it. Yet the mind of George Moore, the man who wrote it, is no common one.

Here are some of his ideas: Birth, the commonest of all occurrences, never ceases to be the most wonderful.

When we change our ideas we change our friends, because our friends are only the embodiment of our ideas.

Christianity was born in the amphitheatre and did not leave it without acquiring a lust for blood. God is a great expense, but government would be impossible without Him.

That is not common can easily be argued to be madness by a loquacious lawyer before a stupid jury.

Every man's conscience is his own law and he must act accordingly.

We are so constituted that we demand outward signs of our emotions, especially of grief; we are doubtful of its genuineness unless it is accompanied by sighs and tears.

As soon as we reach the age of reflection the thought of death is never long out of our minds. Instinct is a surer guide than logic.

There are men who would die if forced to live chaste lives, and there are men who would choose death rather than live unchaste; how can chastity be imposed upon all men?

If good books did good, the world would have been converted long ago.

People wonder at the genius of Shakespeare! I must say the stupidity of the ordinary man surprises me far more.

Self deception is the very law of life.

An Irishman must fly from Ireland if he would be himself; Englishmen, Scotchmen, Jews do well in Ireland. Irishmen never; even the patriot has to leave Ireland to get a hearing.

Heroes are dependent upon chroniclers.

Great sorrows cannot be, and never are, confided.

The poor would not be able to live at all if it weren't for the poor.

We come into the world with different minds. That is a thing we cannot remember too often.

George Moore is living, an Irishman who had to leave Ireland to "be himself." The Irish have much more in common with the French than with the English; and it was easy for Moore to become French in spirit when he educated himself in Paris. Naturally he deprecates the mere portrayal of manners, facts and customs in fiction, and insists on the need of passion and moral ideas in the composition of novels.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

STYE (HORDEOLUM)

Styes are infections of the sebaceous glands (oil glands) connected with the eye lashes, and the infection is caused by the same family of germs that will cause boils and pimples elsewhere. The family name is staphylococcus. That means that they are shaped like dots and go in clusters.

These germs are present, more or less, everywhere on the skin and they do not make themselves known unless something happens to the skin to give them a chance to multiply and to be furnished a plentiful supply of food to live on. These conditions are furnished when there is an injury to the tissues or the resistance is lowered in any way. There are several things that will give Mr. and Mrs. Staphylococcus the opportunity to set up their love nests on the eyelids. There is local lowered resistance due to eye strains and inflammation of the lids. (See your oculist), general lowered resistance due to malnourishment or to systematic diseases such as diabetes, kidney disease and other diseases. (See your physician). Sometimes long exposure to wind and dust, such as would be had in an open automobile ride, is the lowering factor.

The germs get in the eyelash root, are damned in, and begin to raise trouble. Nature, of course, always on the alert to combat any such invasion, calls out her forces of white blood corpuscles and the anti-disease elements of the blood and tissues, and the war begins. A lot of the germs are killed, and a lot of the white blood cells. These dead and dying germs and cells, plus a lot of living germs and the blood serum, make what we know as pus or matter.

Can rubbing a sty with a gold wedding ring cure it? You have heard that, haven't you? Yes, it may, if begun early enough. However, you don't have to use a wedding ring—so if you are single, you will not be handicapped. In fact, you don't have to use a ring of any sort. Simple massage with the fingers will have the same effect, if it is early enough to have any effect at all. The rubbing causes the hair follicles to open more or less and some of the germs are ousted. But the chief thing that happens is that more protective blood, with its white blood cells, is brought to the spot and the invaders are killed off in that way. We often find that some of these old-fashioned remedies, and sometimes reme-

Now, if you keep the soreness and tingling in your eyelids that presages a sty coming, begin immediately to massage the lid. Pull out the eye lash over the sorest spot. Bathe the eyes first in hot boracic solution, if you are where you can, and wash your hands thoroughly before massaging; but if you are not where you can do this, begin the massage the moment you notice the sty coming anyway.

Get a small tube of yellow oxide of mercury, one per cent, to massage with. This combination of an antiseptic and the massage is more effective than the simple massage. I have known of many styes to be aborted in this manner.

Styes often come in crops. That is, if you have one sty, you are very apt to have two or three to a half dozen more. The reason for this is because the first sty has lowered the tissue resistance, and there are always a few of the same strain of germs that caused the original sty still lurking around, emboldened by their ancestors' success. This lowered tissue resistance, combined with the now bolder germs, causes the second sty, and so on. In fact, if you do not know how to prevent them, it is very seldom that you will have one sty without having a group of them.

Next week, I shall talk a little more on the treatment of styes, and I will tell you also something about blind styes and chalazions.

Girls Rival Flowers In Color

Nature's gay colors encounter strong competition in the beautiful clothes that the girls of today are showing as part of their spring and summer wardrobes. Hats, gowns and street frocks are a riot of varied hues.

By MME. LISBETH

Nature is putting forth colors soft and gay, putting away her dark winter clothes and coming forth clothed anew, and why should we not do likewise? Dark winter wraps and suits are giving place more and more to less somber shades and a group of young women now resemble the poet's "rosebud garden of girls." The new scarfs have a great deal to do with the riot of color one sees on the street—the scarfs and hats. The clothes pictured here are very good examples of the gay colors that make such a picturesque showing. The hat in the insert on the left is one of the larger models that are beginning to be more popular now that the sun is sending its rays down more directly on the earth. It is a "blue bird" hat and rivals that tenuous bird in its hue.

In the center milady dons shell pink satin for her evening festivity. The frock is trimmed with crystal fringe and amethyst drops sparkle among the crystal. At the right the artist has placed a nobby little sports frock of green flannel. Stitchery is the only trimming on it. A narrow shade of self material ties at the back for a change, and the hat and scarf worn with it are green and white.

THINGS THAT CAUSE CORNS
Corns are so uncomfortable—and so avoidable! And so hard to cure, once they get a start. Make a mental list of these common causes of corns and see whether you can avoid or cure one of the worst of the minor afflictions of man.

Badly darned stockings. Tight shoes. Loose shoes. Shoes that for any reason rub a part of the skin. Shoes that are too heavy and do not let the foot breathe properly may not actually produce corns, but they will bring on other unhealthy conditions. Pointed toe shoes will give you not only corns but bunions, which are worse; and shoes with heels too high or too spindly will break your arches. Badly fitting stockings also make corns.

Not a long list, but important. Now about stockings. If you must economize about your clothes, the last thing to buy cheaply is shoes and, after all, stockings. If your skin is not sensitive, all wool stockings are very good for cold weather and chilly wet weather, for wool absorbs moisture from the feet, it washes and wears well, ventilates and yet keeps the skin warm. Wool and silk is not quite as warm, but more comfortable and much smarter. Silk stockings are ideal except for very cold days out of doors; silk also is absorbent, wears well (if the quality is at all good) and stretches easily to fit the feet without binding at any part.

Cotton is tricky. It either does not take the dye as well as wool or silk, or else the dyes used are not so good, for the color often comes off on the feet. And this certainly isn't healthy. Cheap, thick cotton grows hard with wear, rubs and irritates and often causes corns; good quality cotton, however, makes a healthful and well fitting stockings, if not so smart, as silk.

L. M.—If the girl of 16 years who weighs 115 pounds at a height of five feet six inches, is in good health there is no reason for concern about the fact that she is not stout. She is now at taining her height and after a few years will fill out in proportion. A. E. M.—Advice above also applies to your case. You cannot change the size of your legs and arms.

Badly darned stockings will cause corns

Tillie, Hazel Eyes—Bobbed hair is likely to remain in style. A girl of 21 years, height five feet four inches tall, should weigh between 115 and 120 pounds. At 12 years, height five feet one, the 106 pounds is normal weight.

PETALS ON LIPS

PARIS, May 14.—Rose petal lips are more than a mere figure of speech at present. Through a chemical process, rose petals for rose petaling lips may be had by the box. They are fastened to the lips in lieu of a dash of lipstick, and if cleverly done are rather attractive than otherwise.

WEAR FLANNEL COAT

NEW YORK, May 14.—Quite as popular and as much worn as the sweater will be the flannel coat when warm weather comes. The flannel coat, in every imaginable shade, is without sleeves and forms a light, warm, well tailored garment for the woman who does not look her best in the more clinging sweater.

SMART PUMP SHOWN

NEW YORK, May 14.—A smart pump for street wear shown here today is in black patent leather with a Spanish heel. The vamp is piped with a narrow line of white leather. This same narrow "tongue" and crosses it in three bands, in imitation of a buckle.

STRIKING BLEND

LONDON, May 14.—Maude and cherry is a color combination now being used which is very striking and picturesque if exactly the right shades are chosen. A gown in cherry and mauve, with the shades well chosen, was seen in Claridge's the other evening.

VOILE IS FAVORED

NEW YORK, May 14.—French voile now is a favorite material for summer lingerie. It comes in many colors, but the pale greens and mauves are among the most attractive. Usually this lingerie has embroidered medallions in pastel shades.

Champagnes and fine wines vary greatly in vintage. The wine off the same land for two successive years may taste quite differently.

Reader Friends have requested the following directions:

Old-Time Method of Preserving Strawberries: Pick over, wash, drain and hull the berries. Weigh. For one pound of them make the following amount of syrup: Put into a saucepan three-quarters of a pound of sugar and three-fourths of a cup of cold water; bring to a boil and let simmer for five minutes, then add the berries, bring again to boiling point. Lift berries from syrup and place them in sterilized glass pint-size jars. Boil the syrup ten minutes longer, then pour it over the berries in the jars. Seal airtight at once.

Strawberries Canned by Cold-Pack Method: Rinse the berries in cold water, drain, hull and pick over. Then drop them into hot, sterilized glass jars, pressing down well with a wooden spoon. Add boiling hot, medium thin syrup made by boiling together three quarts of sugar and two quarts of water for five minutes; this syrup should come to within one-half inch of jar top. Put on new rubbers and jar top and put top wire up but do not press down side wire. Stand the jars on a wire rack in the bottom of your wash boiler in boiling water which rises almost to their tops and watch the water closely to see when it begins to boil again; when it does, let it continue to simmer around the jars for sixteen minutes. Now remove jars, press down side wires, invert jars to test for leaks, label and store.

Note: By "sterilized jars" I mean jars which have been placed in cold water, empty, and allowed to remain in the water till it is heated to boiling point and allowed to continue boiling for fifteen minutes. If jars prove leaky, the wires are perhaps bent out of shape, or the rubber ring may be at fault; in this case, unseal the jars, put on new rings, and stand the partially-sealed jars in your wash boiler for five minutes, then take out and completely seal as before. Invert again to test for leaks.

Strawberry Jelly: This berry does not contain as much of that gummy substance called "pectin" as many other fruits. Without sufficient pectin, no jelly will "jell" firmly enough to be used. Therefore, in making strawberry jelly, I advise the housekeeper to buy the bottled pectin now on the market, sold by most grocery stores, and use the booklet of recipes which the pectin firm supplies.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

TIME WILL TELL

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man 23 years old and am known to have a splendid character. I am going with a girl 20 years old and have gone with her three months. She is the finest kind of girl. I have fallen in love with her and I believe she returns a love as sincere.

But I keep wondering if it is just infatuation. I wonder if I would feel the same with another girl if I should go with others. We are both very good natured and we tell each other our feelings. She tells me to go with her. I am going with her. I other girls. We never fuss. I just can't stand being away from her. I am not the sort of person who falls in love with every pretty face. I have never gone with girls much and have never had any desire to.

Until I met this girl I felt discouraged with the world, but now everything is brighter and happier. I couldn't want a finer girl than she is. She is a little home-maker in a motherless home. Do you think I love her? Would a little absence from each other prove our love?

Sometimes I wish I had not met her so soon. It might have been better if she hadn't come into my life until I was ready to settle down and have a home of my own. I believe I am in love, but I don't want to be for a few years. But I don't want to give up this girl and yet I owe her a square deal.

This may sound a bit foolish to you, but it is vital to me.

As you are for three or four months longer, and if at the end of that time you love the girl just as dearly or more so, tell her about it. She will understand your position when you present it to her and will not expect marriage until you are better able to provide a home. It would certainly be foolish to wait several years until you are financially fit before speaking to the girl of your love.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 18. I have been going with a fellow for three months. The third time I was out with him he asked me for steady company, which I gave him. He has seemed so queer lately that I wrote him a letter telling him not to come any more. He came on Sunday just the same and asked me if I wrote the letter. I told him I did because he acted so queerly. He said he was only thinking and that he cared more for me now than he ever did.

I was engaged to another fellow, but I didn't care for him enough to marry him and we broke up. Now he has joined the Navy. I think the other fellow found out about it, for he has not been to see me for over a week. When I go to the store where he works he always smiles and speaks, but never says anything about coming to see me.

I have a Christmas present of his. It is for my girl friend's mother. Please tell me what to do. I dearly love him.

LOVESOME BOBBY.
Be pleasant to the young man when you meet him, but do not let him see that you are hurt because he no longer comes. Your indifference did him good when you wrote the letter telling him not to come. Now if you make an effort to get him back, he will be less likely to come. But if he thinks it is all right with you if

SOX TO TACKLE SEMI-PRO LOOP LEADERS SUNDAY

El Segundo Team Coming to Attempt Overthrow of Glendale Squad

By AL DIX, Of The Evening News Staff.
El Segundo, whose baseball fame has been sung far and wide in California, comes to Glendale next Sunday in the third game of the summer league schedule to play Carl Sawyer's White Sox, who have been winning consistently for some months past.

Last Sunday the Pacific Electric team under Charlie Hill put up a very fine game, but the heavy stick work of the Sox proved the undoing of Al Jensen. El Segundo, for two years champions of California, has one of the best records ever hung up by a semi-pro team in southern California. Last Sunday they beat the Pacific Fleet All-Stars in a hot ten inning struggle, 7 to 6, before the largest crowd ever at a ball game in the coast city.

All the guns of the summer league have been trained on the White Sox in an effort to dislodge them from their position at the top of the percentage column. The leading team in any league has to expect this, and Sawyer's team has had to face aggressions that have been considerably strengthened for the occasion. In spite of this the Sox have not lost a game, and with Cecil Cruz displaying the form he showed last Sunday, when he let the P. E. team down with five hits and struck out ten men, any team in the league is going to have a hard time stopping them.

Many fans who were disgusted with the lack of "pep" shown by the coast leaguers who played for Glendale during the winter would be surprised to see the class of the youngsters that Sawyer has gathered together for the summer race. Without doubt the Glendale team is the best semi-pro team in Southern California. Sawyer is the only veteran on the team, and at second he steadies the youngsters down so that they keep their feet on the ground. Shellenbach, Hlirgoyen and Shields round out a very nice infield. The outer gardens are ably taken care of by Dorman, Orsatt and Young, three of the hardest hitting and speediest outfielders in the manager's association.

If Glendale had entered an organized league, recognized by the national association, Sawyer has at least three players who would be ready for faster company next spring. As it is they are not his property, and he anticipates trouble in holding them when Pacific Coast managers get reports of his work with the Sox. Dorman was offered a tryout with San Francisco, but at that time could not get away to north with the Seals. Shields' hitting was very light last Sunday, but a ball player cannot be judged by one game.

He fielded his position in grand style, and his batting eye will probably return to him when he gets accustomed to the surroundings. The El Segundo game, which will have a direct bearing on the standing of the Sox in the league, should be won by a long way, and the attendance, which has been picking up of late, should show a marked increase next Sunday.

Wilson Avenue Kids Beat Glendale Lads

The Wilson Avenue midget team defeated the boys from Glendale avenue Tuesday by a score of 10 to 6, the game being played on the Wilson ground. Merle Staub made a home run. At the fifth inning the game was a tie with the score 5 to 5. The teams now have equal standing with one game to play to decide the championship of the midget division. Gilbert Eckles, who has been out for some time owing to an injured hand, was in the box to pitch the first inning, and was replaced by Merle Staub.

Lineups were: Wilson avenue—Merle Staub, p.; Denny Tatlow, (captain), c.; James Steiner, 1b.; Kenneth Davis, 2b.; Gilbert Eckles, 3b.; Kenneth Combs, 3b.; Charles Cabellero, rf.; David Chasse, cf.; Marion Walker, if.; Glendale avenue—Ardell McLaughlin, (captain), p.; Dale Hurlbert, c.; Frank Arnold, 1b.; Edwin Woodford, 2b.; Julian Zuniga, ss.; Obed Lucas, 3b.; Fred Huesman, rf.; Varian Sloan, cf.; Richard West, if.; Marvin E. PIPAL BACK FROM INSPECTION TRIP

Tiger Coach Visits Eastern Institutions, Studies Gymnasium Plans

By LARRY RAYMOND, Of The Evening News Staff.
Coach Joseph Pipal, head of the physical education department of Occidental College and famous gridiron and track coach of that institution, has just returned from a four weeks' inspection of the gymnasiums of the leading colleges in this country preparatory to the erection of the new proposed $200,000 Occidental Gym for Men.

"The trip was very successful and really most interesting," declared Coach Pipal. "I was not only enthusiastic over the erection of a gymnasium at the Tiger institution and believes that the Oxy structure when completed will in equipment and modern appointments, be ahead of all the other gyms in the country, if not the largest."

Leaving Los Angeles April 10, when the Tiger track team left for Palo Alto to engage the Stanford cinderpath artists in a combined conference meet, Pipal traveled far and wide visiting seventeen different physical education departments of colleges, Y. M. C. A. and athletic clubs.

Many Inspections

While accompanying the Occidental championship ten-man track team on their Eastern invasion, the coach stopped off long enough to thoroughly study the methods of the departments at Stanford, University of California, Kansas University, the University of Chicago, Princeton, Pennsylvania University, and Yale University.

When the Tiger runners returned coach Pipal proceeded to the Atlantic coast. He visited the University of Columbia in New York and the New York University, and also the New York City Y. M. C. A. From there he traveled to Washington, D. C., and talked with the engineering in the Department of the Interior and the commissioners on physical education.

At Annapolis, Pipal had the opportunity of going through the largest swimming pool in the country. Overland College at Overland, Ohio was the next stop. Farther on Coach Pipal visited Culver Military Academy. At Beloit College and the University of Wisconsin, further study of ideas and plans was worked out. Carlton College, at North Field, Minnesota, and the Y. M. C. A. building at Minneapolis were included in the trip.

The Occidental alumni are actively engaged in raising the $200,000 for the Men's Gymnasium campaign now in full force. Gifts are rapidly coming into the student body office every day and the men are practically assured of a new building next fall. Ground will be broken October 1.

Our Babe Ruth crashed out his eighth homer, but it availed the Yankees nothing, Falk going the Bambino one better and batting in four runs with two homers, giving the White Sox the victory, 7 to 5.

REDS MOVE UP

Coming from behind in the last two innings, the Reds increased their lead in the race by defeating the Phils, 4 to 3.

SPRINT KING TO RISK HIS CROWN

Speeders Out to Dethrone Paddock in Century at Olympic Tryouts

While the announcement that "Iron Man" Cliff Argue of Occidental would not compete in the Olympic tryouts at the Los Angeles coliseum May 24 removes one of the star performers, and a strong challenger for Paddock's supremacy in the century and furlong, there will still be competition enough left to make the Pasadena flash extend himself to the utmost to win.

Argue has decided that he could not give the time necessary for the Paris trip, and has withdrawn his name from the list of entrants. This will leave Keith Lloyd the job of pressing the "fastest human." Buckman, Argue's class mate, is rated in many quarters as fast as a "iron man." He has run Argue a close second in many races this year, and has been clocked in even time or better several times. The belief exists in some quarters that Buckman is the faster man of the two, although he has not been able to beat Argue this spring.

Lloyd, while not eligible for varsity competition, has had little trouble in leaving the field in the two A. U. meets in which he entered.

While the appearance of Paddock and Jack Dempsey, who will box four rounds with Willie Meahan of San Francisco are the chief attractions, the performance of some of the other entries will be eagerly watched by followers of track and field sports in southern California. The trip to Boston and Paris is a prize worth going after, and it is freely predicted that several records will fall that day.

Bob Weaver, chairman of the Olympic committee for the southwest reports that very nearly all of the reserved seats allotted to Los Angeles have been sold. Determined efforts have been made, he said, to keep these out of the hands of the speculators. Located close to the line where the dashes are finished, they have been in very great demand.

Locally, general admission or reserved seat tickets may be obtained from Coach Normal Hayhurst, at the Broadway high school, or Al Dix in the editorial department of The Glendale Evening News. Persons securing tickets here in advance will be obliged to stand in line and wait admission a week from Saturday. Naturally all tickets purchased here help to swell Glendale's quota, and give this city a high standing among the municipalities in southern California that supported the Olympic games.

HITS WIN GAME

The Cubs made only five hits, but crowded four of them into the fourth inning when they made three runs, defeating the Dodgers, 3 to 1.

BROWNS IN SECOND

Danforth hurled the Browns into second place when he scored his fourth straight victory, winning the final game for the Red Sox, 5 to 3.

REDS MOVE UP

Coming from behind in the last two innings, the Reds increased their lead in the race by defeating the Phils, 4 to 3.

ENTRIES PILE UP IN TENNIS MEET

Civic Tournament Starts Monday; Lists Close Friday Night

With twenty-five entries already received, this year's tennis tournament is that every loser in the community service, starting Monday, May 19, bids fair to be even more popular than last summer's civic racquet event, according to George E. Farmer, chairman of the tennis committee.

A special feature of this year's tournament is that every loser is permitted to keep two tennis balls, which makes his $1 entry fee as good as refundable. Mr. Farmer points out. All entries must be in the hands of the committee by Friday of this week, May 16, and may be handed either to George Cornwell, chairman of the sports committee, to R. Ernest Tucker, Community Service executive, or to Mr. Farmer.

Entries should contain the name, address and telephone number of the entrant, and should set forth the most convenient time for play. Mr. Farmer wishes to stress the fact that this is a community tournament, open to everyone.

Play will be on the G. U. H. S. and other courts, at hours to meet the various requirements of the entrants.

Carlocks Are Victors Over Furniture Lads

After winning the first game, the Russell-Pierce Furniture company bowling quintet slumped last night and dropped the next two to the Carlocks on the Recreation alleys, in a City League match. Dawson of the winners was high man with 216. Tonight the Red Feathers meet the Glendale Title & Mantel five.

HITS WIN GAME

The Cubs made only five hits, but crowded four of them into the fourth inning when they made three runs, defeating the Dodgers, 3 to 1.

BROWNS IN SECOND

Danforth hurled the Browns into second place when he scored his fourth straight victory, winning the final game for the Red Sox, 5 to 3.

TIGERS DOWN IN THIRD POSITION

Salt Lake Wins Game After Vernon Gets Seven Runs in One Inning

SALT LAKE, May 14.—After the Tigers had scored seven runs in the fourth inning and apparently had the ball game sewed up, the Bees kept hammering away, and finally won yesterday's game, the first of the series, 9 to 7. Incidentally, they shoved the Tigers down into third place by a margin of three points, a position they have not held for some time.

The damage by the Tigers was done after two were down, when Tony Lazzeri threw wild on an easy chance. McDowell, D. Murphy and Schneider followed with homers sandwiched in between various other hits and runs, and it very nearly proved disastrous for the home boys. The Bees came back with four runs in the fifth, and Lefty O'Doul and

Why They're Using Joint-Ease for Burning Feet

Just because it is now known that burning, sore, aching, swollen feet are caused by trouble in the many joints in the foot and Joint-Ease soaks right in and gets to the seat of the trouble—the cartilage and ligaments of the joints.

And to think that for generations we have been powdering and soaking our feet, thinking the trouble was only skin deep—an old-fashioned idea.

Well, better late than never—just stop the powdering and medicinal bathing and other foolishness for three days and just rub on Joint-Ease—and remember when Joint-Ease gets in foot agony and burning get out—quick—60 cents a tube.

All druggists sell lots of Joint-Ease.—Advertisement.

NEW YORK CLOSING

H. J. DUZEND
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 14.—The stock market today sank back into the same attitude of lethargy that characterized trading all last week. It was fully evident that it had regained completely its composure following Monday's attempt to cause the unfavorable oil and steel developments and the French elections.

The deduction to be drawn was that the market was waiting for the outcome of the battle now going on in Congress between the administration forces and the Democratic-radical block over the tax reduction bill.

Even with this important measure disposed of, it was still regarded possible that the market might continue to drift in a row area until the presidential tickets are received.

Having devoted themselves to the forenoon exclusively to individual issues which presented a mixed picture of advances and declines, the professional element attempted to widen the scope of their activities after the lunch hour by launching a drive against Baldwin obviously with the purpose of creating general unsettlement. Baldwin was forced through its previous low of the year but the balance of the list gave ground reluctantly while in some cases strength was shown.

Shipping shares turned upward in reflection of the improved conditions in trans-Atlantic trade. New York dock was bid up sharply. Sugars, on the other hand, were constantly depressed in connection with the weakness in the commodity. Tire stocks fell to new low levels, weakness in this group being accounted for by reports of over-stocked conditions.

Oils generally did a little better in appreciation of the failure of crude prices to register further declines.

Rail stocks were generally steady, especially the high grade issues. Atlantic Coast Line was heavily bought in anticipation of an extra or stock dividend at tomorrow's meeting. Chesapeake & Ohio, however, started lower, reflecting disappointment over failure of the directors to increase the dividend rate. Norfolk & Western, too, developed heavily.

Call money was offered at 3 1/2 per cent all day.

Trading was sluggish in the last hour with the trend toward lower levels. Baldwin extended its loss, getting below 106. Various specialties were poorly supported, notably Associated Dry Goods, breaking 3 1/2 points to 88 1/4. Philadelphia Reading clock, however, continued in heavy demand around 47 1/4, a net gain of 5 points. The market closed heavy. Bonds were generally steady.

Stock sales today 758,400 shares; bonds $10,693,000.

MacDonald Taboos War Debt Parleys With Reparations

LONDON, May 14.—Great Britain will refuse to entertain any proposal to consider war debts in connection with reparations, Premier Ramsay MacDonald announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

In reply to a question by Esmond Harnsworth, a Tory, the premier said that the Labor government cannot consider calling an inter-allied debt conference at this time. He added:

"The government cannot even consider reparations and debts together."

LOCAL ORGANIST IN L. A. RECITAL

Charles H. O'Haver Delights Audience With Program At Auditorium

Charles H. O'Haver, talented organist of Glendale, is being highly complimented on the organ program he gave last Friday at the Philharmonic auditorium in Los Angeles. His recital was the fifth in a series of six free programs given under the auspices of the Southern California chapter of the American Guild of Organists, aided by the Los Angeles Organists' club, of which Mr. O'Haver is business representative.

The final concert in the series is to be given by Dr. Ray Hastings, internationally-known concert organist, who was chosen as one of the twenty organists from various parts of the world to play at the world's fair in 1915 in San Francisco.

The program given by Mr. O'Haver last week included: "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" (Bach); "Song of the Boatmen of the Volga" (old Russian folk song), "Ave Maria" (Schubert), "The Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser" (Wagner), "The Little Shepherd" (Debussy), "To a Wild Rose" (MacDowell), "In Moonlight" (chimes solo) (Kander), "Grand Triumphal March" from "Aida" (Verdi).

Only the limited time which was arbitrarily set, prevented Mr. O'Haver's responding to insistent encores. From virtually the first notes of the inspired "C Sharp Minor Prelude" to the last thunderous chords of the magnificent "Triumphal March" from Verdi's well-known opera, "Aida," Mr. O'Haver held his hearers spellbound.

Massive Organ
It may be of interest to Glendaleans to know that the organ at his command is a four-manual Austin, and is exceeded in size by but one organ on the whole coast.

Mr. O'Haver drew heavily upon the resources and tone colors with which this instrument is so richly endowed and ran practically through the entire range of tone colors. His flawless technique, his pedal agility, his lavish tone colors, his scholarly phrasing, his orchestral effects combined wonderfully in displaying his perfect technique and genuine musicianship.

In addition to his accomplishments as a concert organist, Mr. O'Haver is considered an authority on theatre music. He is local correspondent for the "American Organist," a journal devoted exclusively to the organ and organists, and published near New York City.

EXPLAINS LEGAL SIDE IN REALTY

E. P. Hayward Gives Address Before Board Members On State Laws

"Legal Considerations in Real Estate Business" was the topic of the lecture delivered by E. P. Hayward before the Glendale Realty board today at the regular weekly meeting in the Presbyterian church, in the educational course that the board is pursuing.

Taking up the chapter in the textbook that deals with this phase of real estate practice, Mr. Hayward showed that it is seldom necessary to carry out any transactions through lawyers in this state, as the title guarantee companies and the escrow department of the banks are equipped to co-operate with the realty men in this respect and to save him the expense of employing attorneys. The lecture covered practically all of the various aspects that affect the legal side of real estate transactions, and Mr. Hayward stressed the importance of having all the details in proper order before going to escrow with the documents in the case, as failure to do so, he claimed, frequently entails weeks of delay and trouble.

Protest On Bridge
Mr. Hayward took the place on the program that had been allotted to Lon J. Haddock, as the latter was unable to be present and deliver his lecture on subordination that was scheduled for today.

A protest against the proposed closing of the Los Feliz bridge while the new bridge that is to be built by the city of Los Angeles is under construction, was made by J. M. Boland, chairman of the industrial committee, who asserted that the closing of this bridge would cause a congestion of traffic over other outlets that would materially injure business in Glendale, it was suggested that the Los Angeles authorities be asked either to build a new bridge at some other point before closing the Los Feliz bridge, or that they erect a temporary bridge alongside the Los Feliz bridge while the latter is being built.

CLEAR ROAD FOR FRENCH PROGRESS

Closer Economic Relations Of European Nations Seen by Experts

Isolation has in a sense been defeated in France and if, as reported, Aristide Briand, six times premier of France, takes hold once more, an international conference of the allies may be looked for. It was he who was overthrown just at the moment when an inter-allied agreement seemed possible. The policy he advocated then has been vindicated. He saw the need of making concessions to the other allies in order to get an agreement on reparations. He was not as imprudent as his successor, M. Poincare. In fact, the deadlock of the last year has been attributed solely to the nationalistic conceptions and stubbornness of Poincare. The policy of Edouard Herriot, the radical leader, if chosen premier, would no doubt follow the Briand policy.

While no doubt internal political issues influenced the French result, there is no doubt that externally the situation is looked upon as having been greatly improved by the change of ministry. The Radicals in France are probably as eager as the Laborites in Great Britain for a better understanding with Russia as well as Germany.

CHICAGO WHEAT

By International News Service

CHICAGO, May 14.—The grain market was dull and the volume of trading small today, with the exception of considerable liquidation in May corn. At the finish wheat was 3/4c up to 3/4c down; corn, 3/4c up to 3/4c up, and oats, unchanged to 1/4c higher.

July and September corn were firm on buying by shorts.

Trading in oats was mixed, cash interests buying May, presumably removing hedges as a result of shipping sales.

that it will be extended to Sinclair avenue by co-operation of the City Council of Glendale, although this has not as yet been decided. The plans as recommended call for the construction of 1800 feet of roadway.

As the plan is the first one that has met with the approval of the majority of the residents of the canyon and the county authorities, as soon as Mr. McMullan's recommendations are approved by the county board of supervisors and the county flood control commission, work will be started on the project.

Law Club Members to Decorate Tent Stage
The members of the Parliametary Law club have agreed to take charge of decorating the stage for the Chautauqua. Mrs. R. N. Stryker and Mrs. O. H. Spradling are chairmen in charge of the decorations for today. Mrs. Harry Greenwalt is president of the club.

Teaching Staff at High School Stays
Pacific Engraving company of Los Angeles. Numerous other bids were accepted, and papers were signed formally accepting the construction work on the Broadway high school training quarters.

Noted students from Los Angeles, including the Eagle Rock and Atwater Park sections, will be admitted next year to the Glendale Union High school, it was definitely decided last night, when an agreement was signed with the Los Angeles board, agreeing to take back all students now in attendance, with no other conditions.

This means that next fall's freshmen from the Eagle Rock and Atwater Park sections will have to go elsewhere, and marks the beginning of the end of admitting students from other cities to the Glendale educational system, according to Mr. Moyse.

There will be a joint meeting of the high school board of trustees and the city schools board of education at 8:30 o'clock Thursday night of next week, May 22, at the Harvard High school.

It was decided at last night's meeting. The high school board members will convene at 8 o'clock, in order to hold a short session by

EXCAVATING FOR BRICK BUILDING

Business Men Co-operate In Erecting Structure for Stores and Offices

VERDUGO CITY, May 14.—Excavations are going right ahead for the fine brick building to be put up on the corner of Honolulu and Los Angeles avenues. This is a syndicate building and property owners here showed their faith in the project by the amount of stock purchased by them. The building will be a purely business one, the lower floor housing a general market and stores, while the upper story will be business offices.

Another brick building going up in this hustling community is that of Mrs. C. Perkins of which the three walls are practically up. This building is finished in rough and glazed brick.

Now that the foot and mouth disease ban is lifted, the Woman's club will probably complete plans for the big all-day garden party to be held on the Blairbridge estate where there is a baseball ground, swimming pool and tennis courts to be enjoyed—all under beautiful oak trees.

Paralleling the imagination of Jules Verne is that of Morgan Robertson, who placed the sinking of the Titanic in a story ten years before it happened.

There are more than 136,000 lawyers in the United States, which is a decrease.

APRIL BUILDING TOTALS $141,272

Month Shows Decrease from Figures Recorded in
First Quarter

EAGLE ROCK, May 14.—Building permits issued in this community during April totaled $141,272. The figure for January was $204,241, the February figure $225,363 and that for March $221,680, making a total of $792,556 for the first three months of 1924. Should this average be maintained during the balance of the year, the figure at the close of December would stand at approximately $2,500,000.

Among notable additions to Eagle Rock this year have been the new Eagle Rock State Bank building at Merton and Colorado; The R. A. McLean Motor Sales Co., Inc. building at Maywood and Colorado; the new Congregational church building at Maywood and Colorado; the new St. Barnabas Episcopal church which is now under construction. The first four months of the year show a building activity which cannot be duplicated in any of the past records of Eagle Rock building.

"The Eagle Rock record for 1924 to date is most gratifying," says O. Phillips, district building inspector. "There has been no evidence of a slump, nor is any evidence of one seen in the totals so far for May, which bids to exceed March by a large figure."

The oldest geological period known is the Precambrian.

HOLD LAST RITES FOR MRS. PETERS

Interment Made In Valhalla
Memorial Park After
Glendale Service

LA CRESCENTA, May 14.—Mrs. Harry Peters, who died Saturday, May 10, was laid to rest yesterday in beautiful Valhalla Memorial park. Dr. Renison read the Episcopal service for Mrs. Peters, the first half in the Jewel City parlors and the latter half at the grave.

A number of local people who were friends of the deceased attended the funeral and burial, among them being Mr. and Mrs. George Wellington, Mrs. G. George, in whose arms Mrs. Peters passed away, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson, Mrs. C. Howard, Mrs. Ellen Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carpenter and Mrs. H. Carpenter of La Canada, Mrs. Carl Klatt, Mrs. Mary B. Barrow, Howard Page, Mrs. Janvire, Deconness Grebe, and others. Many beautiful floral pieces showed the love of her many friends.

Mrs. Peters, who was born in Harnsworth, Birmingham, Eng., came here three years ago, ill through the hardships of the worst war, and for the last five years the little Englishwoman had made a gallant fight which proved a losing one.

Mr. Peters will, for the present, stay here. Besides her husband, Mrs. Peters leaves one brother who resides in Canada.

STANDARDS WILL HOLD U. S. FLAGS

Plans for Decoration Day
Sponsored by Legion;
Merchants Help

BURBANK, May 14.—A flag standard is to be placed every twenty-five feet, along both sides of San Fernando boulevard, from Verdugo avenue to Magnolia avenue, decorating the city for Memorial day, May 30. Workmen are now engaged in placing sockets along the edge of the sidewalk.

An iron pipe imbedded in cement will go into the holes now being drilled in the cement walk, and these pipes will be the receptacles for receiving the flag standards.

The American Legion is sponsoring the plan, which is being supervised by E. H. Wilson. The local merchants are strongly in favor of the plan, recognizing that once installed, these receptacles will facilitate decoration of the city upon any future occasion.

WOMEN TO RAISE FUNDS FOR CLUB

Committee to Devise Means
To Secure Balance to Complete Building

TUJUNGA, May 14.—A special meeting of the Tujunga Woman's club has been called for Thursday afternoon to devise ways and means of raising the balance of the money needed for the building fund. The treasury now has $1500 and it is estimated that about $1200 more will be needed to complete the new clubhouse. Ground has been broken and the building started on the club property on San Ysidro street. Mrs. L. May Dean, one of the past presidents, turned the first earth. Mrs. Nelson E. Jones, present president, and Mrs. D. J. Warnick and Mrs. Guy Barry strewed roses over the plot. Photographs were taken by Lamson of the gathering which included executive officers, directors and members of the building committee.

The members hope to have the building completed in time to celebrate their annual picnic there in June. Two teams of ladies from the east and west sides of town alternate in giving cooked food sales and luncheons to raise money for the building fund and other entertainments are planned that will add substantial sums.

Mrs. Harriet Myers was the principal speaker at the last meeting, addressing the members on California birds and flowers.

Manager Frank Kerwin. The prizes will be turned over to the boys on Monday, May 19, when the parade committee will visit the various schools for this purpose.

The parade will form on Harvard street, east of Brand boulevard, and will proceed north on Brand to Lexington drive and south again to Colorado street. A number of novelty stunts are being arranged by the various divisions. Mr. White states, and eagerness to excel in the parade is certain to make the event a big success.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Glendale's newest furniture establishment will open its doors for business on Thursday, May 15th. Our establishment is admirably located on the corner of Brand Boulevard and California, and we believe the most beautiful furniture store in Glendale. Aside from having a choice location and a beautiful store, you will find here a firm and determined store policy.

Not a printed phrase—Not a published motto—Not a broadcasted slogan; but you will find the store policy here within our doors.

COURTESY—Something that you expect. Something that you are entitled to, and something that you will get.

HONESTY—No one in our establishment will be allowed to misrepresent any piece of merchandise.

FAIRNESS—Any mistake, any complaint will be corrected promptly, courteously and entirely satisfactorily to you. Our merchandise will be priced with fairness and not marked excessively in anticipation of holding numerous sales from which to gather in our usual profits.

Theatre Project for Occidental Assured

EAGLE ROCK, May 14.—The Greek theatre and bowl at Occidental college is assured, and work will start on the mammoth project at once, according to G. A. Hege of the local Chamber of Commerce. The initial development, including 5000 seats, will cost $35,000. Of this, $3500 was raised by local people, at the exercises of a week ago.

Myron Hunt, noted architect, is in charge of construction work, which is under the supervision of President Remsen du Bois Bird of Occidental college, fanner of the ambitious project to put Eagle Rock on a par with Hollywood as a bowl community.

The balance of the funds required to complete this giant structure will be raised through a series of public entertainments, given in this community, under the auspices of the college authorities, working in conjunction with the local Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Hege states.

Seelig Building Two Foothill City Stores

LA CRESCENTA, May 14.—Sam Seelig stores both here and in Montrose are going up rapidly, the one in Montrose being nearer completion. When these two buildings are completed they will add greatly to the appearance of the different business centres.

Glendale, but owing to a conflict with a number of other events, it had to be postponed until May 16. Both Arthur H. Dibbern and Richard D. White assure the boys that the big evening will all the better for the waiting.
Particularly at Saturday's baseball game, where admission will be free to each boy who marched in the parade of the previous day, a number of surprises are planned, not the least of which is free ice cream and cake.
